New principal to lead St. Peter's children

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

St. Peter's School will welcome a new leader this year as Patricia Dieveney takes over as principal.

Dieveney is excited about her new post. She feels now is a pivotal time in the school's history.

"It's exciting to be here," Dieveney said. "Both the school and the church are ready to grow. The enrollment is up this year and that's exciting when you see the interest in Catholic education."

Dieveney says she is looking forward to working with her new staff and feels the teachers are an integral part of making a school successful.

"You want the faculty to be working as a team and take ownership in all the school endeavors," she said.

Dieveney was a teacher for 17 years. She taught grades 4-8, concentrating in math.

She also was a principal at St. Joseph's in Libertyville, St. Philip the Apostle in Northfield, and Holy Family in Minnesota.

She earned a bachelor's degree at Mundelein College in Chicago. She obtained See PRINCIPAL page A10

Train line transports first riders

Antioch officials were pleased with how smoothly things went with the opening of the Metra North Central Service Line.

"All went well," declared Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "There were about 41 people on the first train, 21 on the second and 38 on the third."

"Metra officials felt it was very successful," said Village Administrator Tim Wells. "They estimated about 1,000 riders."

The new line opened Aug. 19. The line runs from Antioch to Union Station in Chicago. One of the stops is a transfer to O'Hare International Airport.

"Twenty five people got off with baggage," Wells noted of the O'Hare passengers.

The way to go

More than 100 members of Citizens Organized for Sound Transportation (COST) were on hand to applaud the inaugural run of the new Metra North Central line and to voice their opposition to the extension of Rte. 53. COST handed out literature about the negative effects of the proposed roadway. For more on the story see page B1.— Photo by Linda Chapman

Metra station builds business opportunities

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

The slogan says if you build it, they will come. Antioch and Lake Villa officials, along with business owners, are hoping the new North Central Service Line will eventually translate into big bucks.

The Metra commuter line runs from Antioch to Union Station in Chicago with a stop at O'Hare International Airport. Some businesses are already making accommodations for the train station.

"We are opening an hour earlier," said Becky Kohel, manager of the Speedway Station at the intersection of Main and Orchard streets in Antioch.

Kohel believes the station will be a benefit to her business.

"It should bring in more people," she added.

Bernie Gunty, who owns Bernie's Quik Shop on Depot and Main streets, feels it's too early to tell, but hopes the station will have a positive impact on his business.

"It's got to help, especially with the Wisconsin people," Gunty said.

Gunty noted he had more people than usual getting gas on the first afternoon the station was open.

The Lake Villa train station stands to create more attention, and eventually businesses to the Lake Villa Township area, according to Lindenhurst Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce President Bob Ringa.

"It will benefit both communities because of the increased commuter traffic coming through both communities," Ringa said.

Ringa added the train station will help promote this area as a center for transportation.

"It will attract people to this area because it is a center of transportation in the area," Ringa added.

In addition, the station should promote a ripple benefit for residents and potential businesses.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS 1995 VIMP LAKE RANKINGS

(lakes monitored four or more times)

Loon Lake in top ten for clarity

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Loon Lake is one of the County's clearest lakes judging from volunteer lake monitoring results.

West Loon Lake has a water clarity level of 96 inches or about 8 feet. It ranked seventh in the county of the 23 lakes monitored by Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. One of the factors which helps both East and West Loon Lakes is the many sloughs, according to Wayne Blake, president of the Loon Lake Management Association.

"We have a lot of sloughs which help the clarity of the water," Blake said. "The sloughs filter sediments to the lake."

Another factor is the watershed or drainage area of the lake. The west lake is slightly clearer because it has less runoff coming into it.

"The bigger the drainage area, the more detrimental it is to the lake," Blake said.

Flowing into the east end is water from Sequoit Creek, Sun Lake, Deep Lake and storm water runoff from Grass Lake Road and from Painted Lakes subdivision in Lake Villa.

"With Painted Lakes the runoff seemed dirtier than usual," Blake said.

The Loon lakes are spring fed glacial lakes which assists in clarity. The spring water is more pure than storm water.

"These glacial lakes don't get the runoff from parking lots. They get it through the ground water," said Gregg Good of IEPA water quality division.

Blake added if residents were to get sewer the quality would improve because there wouldn't be septic discharges into the lake during heavy rains.

Blake said the clear water also fosters greater weed growth. Thus the organization has two weed harvesters and created a special service area to check the weed growth.

The IEPA has volunteers monitor lakes once a month. The volunteer uses an instrument called the secchi disk.

The secchi disk is dropped into the water until it can no longer be read and the depth is recorded.

Red Wing wetlands to grow due to Park City developer

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

An Antioch area wetlands site will be enhanced due to requirements which a Park City developer must meet.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has given initial OK for Marquardt Olds, Inc. to fill 5 acres of low-quality wetland near Old Skokie Road. In return for that permission, the firm must donate $114,000 to the Red Wing Slough, located in northeast Antioch Township.

"The slough is a classic high-quality wetland," John Boldt, Park City engineer said.

Park City Mayor Rob Allen explained that an Army Corps program allows developers to fill such sites as the 5 acres created when Old Skokie Road was installed.

"We want to be sure to have the engineer coordinate the package," Allen said.

"This allows Corelands to purchase more of the wetland and maintain it," said Allen.

Specific projects may also benefit from such developer contributions. "Funds from one mitigation project allowed a professor to study the beetle," Allen said.

Allen said people are sensitive to the term wetland.

Rudy Magna Jr., city attorney, said the city will receive a receipt when Marquardt makes the contribution to Corelands. Also, the city will review development plans for a future commercial use. The developer is still responsible to meet local regulations, he said.

A depressed area will collect water, preventing it from flowing to other properties. "That area will be long and skinny, not a bowl-like situation," Boldt said.

Allen, a science teacher at Waukegan High, said there are high- and low-quality wetlands. "Wetlands are extremely important. They purify the water and make for a good habitat for wildlife. Low-quality wetlands are man-made and have undesirable vegetation, wildlife and breed mosquitoes," he said.

Ald. Ken Enberg questioned the practice of giving funds to another site.

"We spent $30,000 to have the FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Assn.) maps lowered, and in the next minute a developer will spend $114,000 and the little guy will have to buy more flood insurance. It goes around in circles," he said.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is involved, as it may authorize a 401 Water Quality Certificate.

"The process is by no means complete," Magna said.

The first filing for permits was in 1991.

Elementary schools get summer facelifts

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

As Antioch elementary students go back to school they will notice several changes at their schools.

Emmons School District has hired three new teachers to keep up with a growing enrollment. The numbers were higher than originally anticipated.

"It was more than we had anticipated," noted Superintendent Matt Tabar. "We had early registration this year and that helped prepare us."

Tabar said enrollment jumped from 300 to 321 students in the K-8 district. A kindergarten teacher was hired, two first-grade teachers and a third grade teacher was added.

Tabar added all grade levels have been split into at least two sections.

"When we hit 30 in a class we split the sections," Tabar said.

The teachers report Aug. 26 and students begin Aug. 27 for a half-day. Kindergarten classes start Aug. 28.

Also a marquee sign will abut Rte. 59 to update parents and the community regarding district events and information.

In Antioch Elementary

District students will notice a new sign there as well. The sign was paid for by the Parent Teacher Organization and the Student Council.

Oakland School was made more handicapped accessible. The flagpole was moved and will be landscaped with flowers and shrubs. In addition, the leaky roof at Antioch Upper Grade was replaced.

While the final enrollment count is not in at press time, Dr. Daniel Burke, superintendent, said the number of students is up, but he is not sure how much higher.

"At upper grade we had 43 new students walk in which we weren't expecting," Burke said.

School starts Aug. 27 with an early dismissal. Kindergarten begins Aug. 28.

At Grass Lake School, students will immediately notice the new gym floor.

In addition, Macintosh computers purchased in summer will be placed in classrooms. There will be two computers in each K-5, one in each 6-8 classroom and 10 in a science room, according to James Beveridge, superintendent.

School begins on Aug. 27 with a half day.

Trustees choose fee for station parking

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees weighed their parking options for the train station and decided on a price of $1.50 a day.

The price is the one recommended by Metra. It's also the same as what other stations along the North Central Service Line will be charging.

"We want to be at the same price because we don't want people driving up from Lake Villa if they can save 50 cents and fill up our parking lot," said Village Administrator Tim Wells.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo told her they would likely charge 1.50 for parking. Currently parking is free for the month of August in Lake Villa.

One of the concerns of trustees was what Fox Lake is charging. Wells noted the Fox Lake station is on a different line and costs 75 cents a day.

"Fox Lake's lot is already near capacity," Wells noted.

"Fox Lake is a 20 to 25 minute drive and you would pay more than 75 cents for gas," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger.

Wells noted the $1.50 charge will aid with expansion of the lot.

"If we have to expand the lot in six months we will have the ability to do that," Wells said.

"It is a service and should be paid for by a user fee," Shineflug said.

Currently the station at Depot Street has 84 spaces. It could be expanded to 202 spots.

The Metra line opened Aug. 19. The rail service extends from Antioch to Chicago's Union Station. One of the stops is a transfer to O'Hare International Airport.

Wells added the village could consider blocking spaces for commuters in the future when the lot is expanded.

Antioch High sporting a new look

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

This was the summer of extensive remodeling and technology changes at Antioch High School.

With so many changes, students may have a hard time recognizing the place when they start school on Aug. 27. Projects included expanding the computer network, redesign of a study hall room, upgrade of special education facilities, new tennis courts and fences and new gym floors.

"We are excited about the computer network and access to Internet," said Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent. "We think it will really help us instructionally. Now that we have the technology, the challenge will be what to do with the information."

All the computers in the school will be on one network. In addition, the school will be hooked up to the Internet which is a vast collection of information often called the Information Superhighway.

Students can look forward to a completely different Wisdom Hall. The former large study hall now has six separate areas.

"We were able to expand six rooms while utilizing the same facility," Hockney said.

Included in the room will be journalism department, yearbook and a quiet study area.

For the sports minded, the tennis courts will be completely redone with new fences. The area surrounding the football field and the press box is now cardinal red and gray.

The audiovisual equipment and copiers were moved in the hall away from library area so students won't have to walk through the library to get to them.

Several rooms also received new coats of paint.

Hockney projects there will be less students this year. Enrollment is expected to be at 1740 students, down from 1768 the previous year.

Hockney added the real jump in enrollment is not envisioned until the 1998-99 school year.

Teachers will report to school on Aug. 26.

ACHS Poms qualify for Paris

Paris is the place to be if you're an ACHS Varsity pom member. Both squads attended the Showstoppers Camp of America at NIU in DeKalb, the last week in July and had outstanding success. Both squads learned a number of routines and performed them for an evaluation. The JV squad earned a good and an excellent.

The Varsity earned an excellent and a Superior, qualifying the girls to perform in Paris under the Eiffel Tower and at the Disney-Paris on New Year's Eve.

Eighteen Varsity members and nine JV members earned the opportunity to try-out for the Bears game half-time performance. The girls who were chosen to perform at the game were: Melissa Hague, Kristy Meidema, Stephanie Haenchen, Audra Miles, Alexis Dayhuff, Sarah Trovillion, Meagan Tripp, Kelly Haley, Krista Hintz, Nicole Ginascol, Shannon Pederson, Katie Dalton, Molly Meyer, Korbyn May, Shannah Jaburek.

On the JV squad Colleen Creegan, Audra Waylander and Jenilyn Nauer qualified to perform also. There were 6 Varsity members who were chosen for the All Star team which will perform in Florida at Disney World-EPCOT Center over Thanksgiving.

The girls who earned the opportunity to make this journey are: Melissa Hague, Stephanie Haenchen, Kristy Meidema, Audra Miles, Kelly Haley and Meagan Tripp. The Varsity Squad also received the "Showmanship" award for the week, displaying great energy and smiles. The best part of the week was when Melissa Hague was recognized as Showstopper of the week for her outstanding dance ability. This is the first time anyone from ACHS has been awarded this medal. The honor is similar to being chosen as an All County member. She was selected out of 500 other dancers as one of the top 3 performers who attended camp.

Gay couple harassed by youths

Two youths may be charged with hate crimes, a felony in the State of Illinois, according to police.

The 14-year-old males were arrested late last week after being charged with harassing a gay couple in town. Charged with criminal damage to property, criminal trespass and violation of curfew, the youths allegedly smeared human feces on the house and threw toilet paper throughout the yard.

For the two years the gay couple has been residing on Garfield Avenue, "There's been a number of [harassment] complaints," said Fox Lake Police Lt. Edward Gerretsen.

The youths were apprehended after one of the men, Mark Manczko reportedly heard some noise in his yard and called police.

Lt. Gerretsen explained the home has been on "special watch" since the incidents have occurred. "They deserve to be left alone, and live their lives as anybody else." The lieutenant added, "They will receive the continued support of the police department. Whatever can be charged in this case will be," said Gerretsen.

Tyke saves toddler from drowning

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Age has no meaning when it comes to helping in serious situations, says an Ingleside family.

Last week, while a couple of 2-year-old cousins were playing in the backyard, one of the kids reportedly saved the life of the other.

In his best toddler pronunciation, little Eron Taylor Gundelach, who will be three next month, described what happened to him while pointing to the pool. "I fell in da water, twying to get litoole fishing thing," he said.

A translation from his mother Marie Gundelach, explained that while Eron and his cousin, Brandon Villa, were in the backyard playing, one of their fishing toys fell into the in-ground swimming pool.

The kids' relative, Joey Villa was keeping an eye on the children, but for a brief moment went into the kitchen to fill his glass with water.

"Someone is always watching the kids," said Marie. "And they never go near the water."

This day however, the toy was too tempting and before Joey knew it, the two had attempted to retrieve it from the water.

Brandon, who is actually two and a-half-years-old, began screaming on the top of his lungs, while grabbing onto Eron's shirt sleeve.

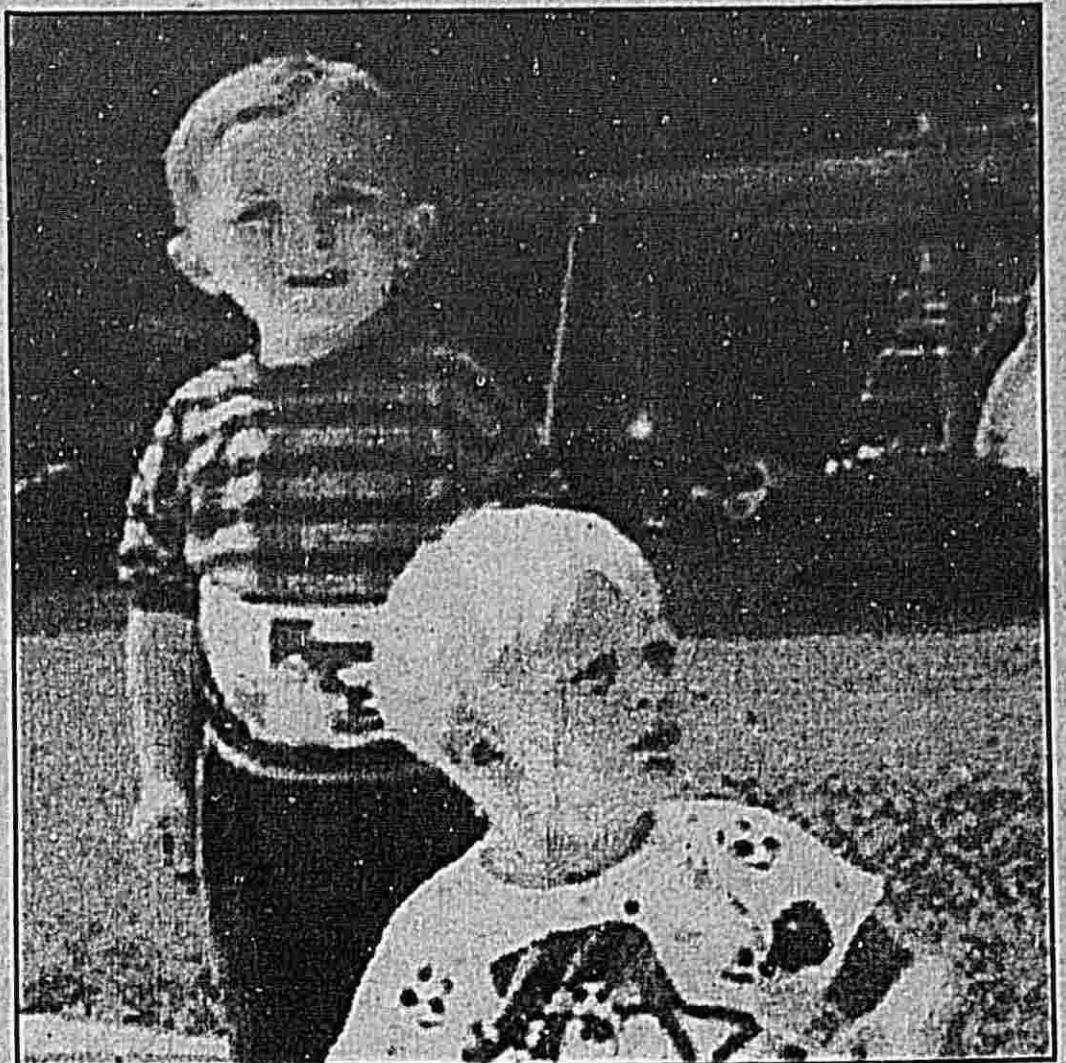

"It's a scream you can't describe," said Brandon's Grandma Betty Villa of Fox Lake.

Eron's mom said when she heard the blood-curdling yelp coming from the child, "It just gave me goosebumps."

"It was just incredible that a two-year-old would call for help," said the grandmother.

Joey, who was on his way out anyway, was the first to arrive on the scene. He ran to the screams and saw Brandon holding onto his cousin's arm telling him to 'kick, kick' so he could stay afloat.

"It's amazing. They're only 2-years-old. 'I just couldn't believe it," the grandma explained.

Marie said after Joey pulled Eron out of the water, soaking wet in his blue jeans and sneakers, the little tyke ran to his mom and with tears in eyes shouted, "Bubba saved my life!"

'Bubba' is Brandon, a name Eron adopted for his cousin when he first started speaking the name.

So proud of Brandon for his assistance in saving the life of his cousin, he was treated to a meal at McDonald's and cited as a "hero" for the day.

Tom Bradtke, dive master of the Fox Lake Fire and Rescue Department said, "To my knowledge this has never happened before. I think it's fantastic."

What a birthday celebration

I want to take this opportunity wish Antioch's very own Bill Seamon a belated Happy Birthday. I would also like to take this time to apologize to old Billy Boy because I am the reason he spent his special day alone without his adoring children and lovely wife. I had no idea when I invited the Seamon family on a Pringle/Schreiber/Ladin clan water park outing that it was the old boys birthday that day. It wasn't until we arrived in Rockford and were comfortably settled in our lounge chairs under a glorious blue sky and beaming sunshine that I came to realize that Mr. Seamon was indeed born on that same day some cons ago. As it happened the day ran a little longer than usual, even for our clan, but how were we supposed to know a journey that began at 8:30 in the morning would last until 9 that night. Granted the water park closed at 6:00 but by the time we changed eight "we don't want to leave" children out of wet bathing suits and into dry clothes it was pushing 6:30 and no Pringle/Schreiber/Ladin outing is ever completed until a meal is consumed at a fast food dining establishments. And you have to remember we were all the way in Rockford which is half way across the state. Billy's dedicated wife didn't think to much of the situation and said she would call him and tell him his cake for the occasion was in the refrigerator and the candles were in the third drawer on the left in the event he wanted to partake of the normal birthday hoopla of singing and blowing out candles. So because of my poor timing Bill "The Birthday Boy" had to spend his special day celebrating all by himself without his noisy kids or chatty wife. But stop the presses here; come to think of it old Billy Bob I believe you owe me a huge thank you, thank you, thank you. After all I supplied you with the most cherished, most sought after, most can't get enough of, kind of birthday present one could only dream of: a whole evening of peace and quiet in the confines of your own home—it doesn't get much better than that.

A plea goes out

Well it seems that the folks at Camp Crayon need a little assistance from the moms and dads out there who had a child attending the program during the '95-'96 school year. The illustrious Miss Liz is looking for any parent or grandparent who might have taped the Graduation Program at the end of the year. She is looking in particular for the portion of the festivities that include the Macarena dance number. She is getting a bit sentimental in her expanding age and would like a few memento's to keep her in touch with why exactly it is she gets up four mornings a week to devote her time and talents to those little people. So if you can help out this well-seasoned teacher she would be much obliged. She would appreciate anyone with a good, clear copy of the festivities (you know the eyes are the first thing to go) whether it be the Monday/Wednesday group or one of the Tuesday/Thursday groups, give her a call at 395-5380.

FEET AT WORK

Foot problems can be especially troublesome at work. After all, that is where we spend the longest stretch of waking hours. How to get through the day without aching feet?

Start by choosing shoes that fit comfortably and give adequate support. Women, avoid high heels.

Match footwear to the job: sturdy shoes with reinforced toes if there is a risk of objects falling on the feet; non-slip shoes if there are slippery surfaces like oily garage floors; rubbers or boots if work takes you into wet areas.

Many foot problems are caused by bone or muscle defects, infections, or careless foot care. The type of work one does may intensify such problems. Persistent pain or other symptoms should be discussed with the podiatrist.

Owner splits with Lake Zurich partner, puts energy in Antioch

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

The owner of DiMarco's Restaurant in Antioch wants to stress she is back in Antioch full-time to keep its strong tradition of dining excellence.

Donna DiMarco dissolved her partnership with Eugene Pontillo in Lake Zurich. However, she says she will remain in Antioch and devote her attention to the Antioch location.

"Donna plans to be around a long time to serve our customers," Dimarco said.

DiMarco's has been a thriving restaurant for 6 1/2 years. During that time Donna said there have been many special memories.

"For 6 1/2 years DiMarco's has been a special place for the people of this area. There's a special ambiance. People have been engaged here; they have many special memories," she said.

"I will be devoted to this restaurant. I am here to stay," she said.

DiMarco said she will concentrate her efforts in Antioch for the time being. She may try another partnership at a later date.

DiMarco added that the Lake Zurich restaurant isn't closing.

"I wish them well," she said.

Donna was involved in Antioch DiMarco's from the very beginning. Previously she was a restaurant manager for 15 years.

The restaurant has received a consistent 3-star rating based on reviews from both media and industry journals.

DiMarco said will concentrate on ensuring the food and service remains at a high level.

Car show, quilt expo benefits abused kids

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

It's time for some good old-fashioned family fun this weekend at the Blast from the Past Classic Car Show and Quilt Expo.

This charity event is slated for Aug. 24 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the grounds of the Central Baptist Children's Home, 215 N. Milwaukee Ave., Lake Villa. There will be lots of food, games, music, classic cars and quilts.

"It's a way we can give back to the community what they have done for us," said Amy Younts, public relations director.

The event raises money for programs to aid abused children and their families.

On hand will be the Kroozers Car Club which boasts several classic cars. Last year, more than 100 cars competed for trophies. Some of the categories include overall best, mayors choice, people's choice and children's choice.

The Northern Lake County Quilters Guild will have a quilt expo in the Richardson House Mansion. Many quilts will be on display and there will be hands on demonstrations.

Also being raffled off is a wall-sized quilt donated by the State Bank of the Lakes employees.

Some of the baby quilts will be donated to babies in foster care.

Admission to the quilt expo is $2 for adults and $1 for seniors. Children under 10 are free.

Children's activities include pony rides given by Pony Acres, the Polka Dot Puppeteers at 11 a.m. and Chuck A Roo the Clown.

The 3D Sound Company will supply the tunes.

Food options include chicken, gyros and Sloppy Joes from Wild Bill's of Lake Villa, hamburgers, hot dogs and brats from Cory's Catering in Fox Lake, lemonade by Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE), popcorn by the Palombi Student Council, Tacos by the Parent Group, watermelon from Lake Villa Township Lions Club and caramel apples and waffle on the stick by Ma & Pa's Kettle of Ingleside.

For more information call Central Baptist Children's Home at 356-2391.

Antioch plans community-wide marrow drive

In an effort to share "The Living Gift of Life" with more people who are suffering from fatal blood diseases, a community-wide marrow drive is being organized in Antioch to increase the number of marrow donors.

For many people suffering from fatal blood diseases such as leukemia, a bone marrow transplant from a matched marrow donor is the only hope.

A community marrow drive is being planned in Antioch on Saturday, Sept. 28 at St. Peter's School gymnasium.

"Every year, more than 30,000 children and adults in the United States are diagnosed with fatal blood diseases such as leukemia," said Ted Axton, coordinator of the Antioch Community marrow Drive and president of First National Bank of Antioch.

He added, "For the 70 percent of patients who need a marrow transplant and cannot find a matched donor within their family, an unrelated donor is the only hope."

By organizing a community-wide marrow drive,

Axton said the Antioch drive aims to add more volunteer donors to the National Marrow Donor Program's Registry. Currently, there are about 2 million volunteer donors listed on the registry, but there are more than 2,000 searches going on at any one time.

"The chances of finding a match are one in 20,000. To make it an even chance of finding someone who matches, you would need 40 million donors in the national registry," noted Axton, who recently completed a marrow transplant.

Since 1985, there have been more than 5,000 transplants, and that number increases at about 75 per month.

Simply put, more donors increase the odds of finding a successful bone marrow transplant for someone suffering from leukemia or other fatal blood diseases.

If you would like more information about how to become a volunteer marrow donor during the Sept. 28 community drive, call (847) 395-1309.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

County 4-H winners named at State Fair Junior Show

Lake County 4-H'ers had an award-winning day at the 1996 Illinois State Fair on Monday, Aug. 12. The area youngsters were among more than 7,000 exhibit projects in the Junior Division of this year's Fair.

Twenty-four Lake County 4-H'ers received Superior Awards for their entries. These special purple ribbons are awarded at the discretion of the judges to entries they consider outstanding. Superior Award winners included: Christopher Aaltonen, clothing, Waukegan.

Molly C. Bitters, visual arts, Wauconda; Eric W. Bockelmann, communication, Lake Zurich; Amy B. Braim, visual arts, Zion; Kevin H. Cole, Science in 4-H, Grayslake; Amy L. Diesterheft, Forestry, Gurnee; Richard T. Doolittle, model rocketry, Antioch; Bridget Engler, communication, Bristol; Nichole R. Felice, home furnishings, Hawthorn Woods.

Kelly Gregory, animal sciences, Grayslake; Megan Gregory, animal sciences, Grayslake; Kimberly Harris, communication, Libertyville; Amy L. Henschen, visual arts, Gurnee; Kristen L. Henschen, visual arts, Gurnee; Sarah Jackson, clothing, Grayslake; Many A. Reinler, communication, Zion; Michael Richards, wood-working, Zion; Katie Schuttfeld, Intercultural, Ingleside.

Ella M. Sell, home furnishings, Zion; Susan T. Tracey, Child Care, Wauconda; Amy Vanderkooy, clothing, Antioch; Katharine Wetzel, clothing, Crystal Lake; James M. Wieser, woodworking, Lake Villa; and Kevin N. Wieser, citizenship, Lake Villa.

The State Fair "conference judging" experience offers Illinois 4-H'ers a unique opportunity to talk with experts in their project area, according to Debra Stocker, Extension Assistant, 4-H and Youth Development, with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. Project evaluations are based not only on the quality of the finished product, but also on the youngster's knowledge of his or her project area.

"In conference judging, the 4-H'ers and the judge discuss the youngster's project one-on-one," she said. "The 4-H'er answers questions and describes how the project developed. In turn, the judge offers constructive criticism that helps the exhibitor understand what was done especially well and what might be improved for next time."

4-H'ers spend all year preparing their projects for county fairs and 4-H show. "Only the best of those projects are eligible to be shown at the State Fair," Stocker said. "In recognition for having been chosen to exhibit at the 1996 State Fair Junior Show, each 4-H'er who brings a project to the Fair receives a red, white, and blue Award of Excellence rosette. Awards of Excellence went to the following Lake County 4-H'ers:

Janice D. Adamek, visual arts, Mundelein; Jaclyn D. Adamek, visual arts, Mundelein; Aaron J. Armitage, communication, Zion; Erin N. Bethke, home furnishings, Grayslake; Susanna M. Bitters, visual arts, Wauconda; Tim C. Bockelmann, electricity, Lake Villa; Suzanne Clesielka, visual arts, Mundelein; Jay Jackson, visual arts, Grayslake.

Cori Kirshner, photography, Hawthorn Woods; Kristopher Kubicki, science in 4-H, Hawthorn Woods; Jonathan M. Kubicki, visual arts, Hawthorn Woods; Jeff E. Lancioni, visual arts, Wauconda; Jay H. Mixa, visual arts, McHenry; David Otterness, photography, Zion; Christie M. Otto, visual arts, Round Lake Park; Andre M. Reinier, visual arts, Zion; and Beth J. Stiner, visual arts, Zion.

These Lake County youngsters are among more than 190,000 involved in the statewide 4-H program, which is coordinated by the U of I Cooperative Extension Service.

All Illinois youngsters between 8 and 18 years of age are eligible to join 4-H. For more information on 4-H programs in this area, phone the Lake Extension Unit Office at 223-8627.

PREVENTING GUM DISEASE

You are most likely to avoid chronic periodontal disease through a combination of regular professional treatment and conscientious home care. At home, essentially, the same techniques serve to protect both your teeth and gums. Periodontal disease is especially likely to begin between the teeth, so it is crucial to clean these areas thoroughly. With age, the gums often recede, exposing larger spaces between the roots of the teeth. To clean these spaces, you may find it helpful to use an interdental stimulator, a mechanical irrigator, or a small brush designed for the purpose. Brushing your gums along with your teeth tends to make them firmer. Although this promotes oral health, it does not eliminate the risk of periodontal disease. Improper or overdone massage can even damage the gums. If your gums are healthy, but brushing causes them to bleed, you may be using too much pressure, or too stiff a toothbrush. See your dentist for individualized facts on what is best for your mouth.

ACHS students to study energy saving

Can Antioch Community High School save money on its energy bills? A team of students and teachers will find out this fall, by applying the skills they learned at the EnergyNet Summer Institute at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

The Antioch team, which consisted of Seniors Erica Bonovitz and Kathryn Rosen, with John Kretsos (Science Dept.) and Joe Fielding (Math Dept.) as faculty representatives, were among teams from 23 schools who attended the week-long training session and learned skills as diverse as sending E-mail and calculating the wattage of a classroom light bulb.

EnergyNet is a statewide telecommunications project whose goal is to provide Illinois students with education's Fourth R-Ready for the Real World. The project was designed three years ago by a coalition of education and business leaders to introduce students to the computer, team-building and problem solving skills they need in today's workplace. Over 100 junior and senior high schools are now participating.

The EnergyNet summer Institute began with a real-world problem. Cyber Seven School was in deep financial trouble and conference attendees had to figure out how to save the School District money or see its sports, music and other extracurricular activities canceled. The Antioch High School students and teachers joined teams to audit the simulated school's energy use, analyze its electricity and gas bills, and access the Internet to research alternative energy sources.

EnergyNet engineers from the University of Illinois at Chicago's Energy Resources Center and the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs provided information on energy efficient lighting fixtures and school heating and air conditioning systems and technology professionals introduced the students and teachers to computer spreadsheets, E-mail and the EnergyNet Home Page on the Internet, which students across the state use to share data. On the Institute's final day, Erica and Katie joined students from other schools to make energy-saving recommendations to a mock, Cyber Seven School Board.

The Antioch team will help lead a real-life analysis of their school's energy use during the 1996-97 school year. Across Illinois, EnergyNet has been included in regular science or technology class curriculum, added as an extra class, or takes on as an extra-credit project by groups of students. At Antioch Community High School, EnergyNet will be introduced to faculty and students this fall, and its implementation will be discussed. According to Carol Timms, the EnergyNet Project Director, any Illinois school which follows the recommendations of its EnergyNet team can reduce its energy bills by an average of 15 percent.

Needed: A little space, a big heart

Never are there enough foster homes to meet the need. Catholic Charities is seeking quality foster homes to provide temporary care for Lake County children from newborns to 18 years of age. The basic requirements for being a foster parent are a sincere interest in loving and caring for children, extra space and an open heart. Especially needed are foster homes with enough room to keep sibling groups together as well as Hispanic homes.

An information meeting about foster parenting will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 18, at 7 p.m. at St. James School in the Coral Room, 140 North Ave. in Highwood. For meeting registration or more information, call Caroline or Rose at 249-3500.

A visit to the past

Lindenhurst considers funding task force

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst trustees appeared supportive of funding a portion of a task force on schools if necessary.

'People are working together to find a single-school solution. It affects our community development and our quality of life.'

— Trustee James Betustak

Lindenhurst is a member of the Northwest Lake County Educational Consortium along with Antioch High School Board, the elementary school boards which send students to the high school, Antioch and Lindenhurst/Lake Villa Chambers of Commerce and Antioch and Lake Villa village boards. The consortium hasn't incurred any cost but may at a future time.

"This is not just an educational issue; it is a community issue," stressed Trustee James Betustak.

The consortium is meeting about once every two months. The members are working toward creating a single school solution which benefits the three communities and two townships which send students to the high school and the feeder elementary districts.

"People are working together to find a single-school solution. It affects our community development and our quality of life," Betustak said.

The University of Illinois is providing a consultant at no charge to assist the group in their efforts. Betustak claimed it would cost $100,000 for a private consultant to perform the task.

There may be costs later on such as mailings.

Already Antioch High School has agreed to finance $2,500 for the project if needed.

Betustak also suggested keeping members on the group even if they don't provide financial assistance because of the scope of the project.

Trustees agreed to discuss the matter if there is a need for financing. They also suggested everyone in the group consider how much they could spend on the project.

a master's degree from College of St. Thomas in Minnesota.

She added the challenge for St. Peter's is to prove it can provide a quality education while teaching Christian values.

"The public schools are good. We have to be good at what we do. We also teach Christian values. Parents really want religion. Here it is taught every day," she said.

Dieveney says her job is made easier by the support she has received from the community.

"The support of the community for St. Peter's has been just wonderful. Antioch has very generous people," Dieveney said.

The principal says the students will understand what she expects of them.

"I want them to know they are very important, and that they are very special. I want them to recognize their unique gifts and talents and appreciate the gifts and talents of others," Dieveney said.

Dieveney said both the community and the staff have really helped get two mobile classrooms together in time for the school year.

"It will attract new residents and bring up property values. Businesses can locate here and have a reduced cost of getting to the airport," Ringa said.

Ringa said it also makes it easier for residents to get to the airport or have their families visit them.

Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo has mentioned their station, designed from the plans of the original station constructed in 1930s, is the centerpiece of the downtown area.

Riders

Shineflug said Metra officials had 1,000 train schedules and ran out.

The line signals the beginning of another era of train travel. Train service was ended in 1965. The station on Depot Street has 84 parking spaces and has the potential to expand to 202 spaces.

Wells said the trains were slightly behind schedule but that was to be expected with the first day of service.

"They could not be more pleased," Wells said of Metra officials' comments on the first day.

In the afternoon train, 129

seniors from Zion took the train downtown.

For the near future the line will have only weekday service. Shineflug noted the agreement with Wisconsin Central to run weekday freight service and pushed many freight trains on Saturday runs.

Karate students complete seasons

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Karate students came home with six national champions from competition sponsored by National Team USA this year.

All students are coached at Great Lakes Sport Organization, coordinated by Robert Brown. Final totals show three national champions in the adult division, with five in the top eight. There were three national champions among 12 youths with nine in the top eight.

"This is the same circuit which Chuck Norris won 20 years ago. You have to go through national tournaments and the one with the most points is national champion," Robert Brown said.

Brown's students have competed in the Godwill Games, St. Petersburg and Pan American games, bringing in 21 medals over two years. Age range is eight to 15 among the youth. Some 270 students attend Brown's lessons in Mundelein or Grayslake.

"There is a growing interest in Karate," Brown said.

In addition to winning competitions, the students may also vie for college scholarships if they keep a certain minimum grade point average. A total of 10 national tournaments must be attended to gain points to the national title.

Brown remembers vividly how he discovered Karate.

"I was about to make some bad decisions and get involved in gangs. A minister grabbed me and introduced me to Karate, showing the discipline and dedication he learned from lessons in Asia. In six months, it changed my life," Brown said.

He has owned Great Lakes Sports Organization for 20 years and the interest in the sport has caught on strong with his son, Eric. Eric, an Antioch High School student, won third place in sparring and fourth place in weapons.

In the adult division, Dean Lasiter of Waukegan was grand national champion for sparring. Also earning that level was John Pierpont of Mundelein. Brown, of Antioch, earned overall points champion, first place in sparring and second in forms and fourth in weapons.

Vikings on the upswing, as they hit MFL road

Welcome to the whacky world of semi-professional football.

One week, a team can be down in the dumps looking at the short end of a 53-3 score of a pre-season game.

The next week, a close 10-6 loss to open a season.

And in week three, a 66-0 win over an overmatched opponent called the Midway Jets gave the Lake County Vikings a 1-1 start in the Midwest Football League.

"Everything just clicked. This is a big win," Adam Tesch, Vikes quarterback, said.

Tesch directed the Vikings up and down the field Saturday night. Forty points were tallied by halftime. The second half featured a continuous clock, something both the Jets and the fans appreciated.

"Field position was fine. We scored on every possession. They did not have the numbers and we wore them down in the second half," Vikes coach Russ Kraly said.

Three QBs directed the onslaught - Tesch, who played the first half, Todd Brown and Elmer Smith.

The Vikings still have some holes to fill before rosters are submitted to the Midwest Football League. The Vikings are at Springfield Aug. 24.

The game marked the return of former RL High standout Vinny Lira. "He did a good job on two punt returns. His specialty will be punt return and kickoffs," Kraly said.

The scoring came early and often this Saturday night. QB Tesch scored on a 34-yard run, running back Luke Tesch scored on a 24-yard run; Corey Turner had a 30-yard run and Mike Connell snared a TD pass from Tesch.

Luke Tesch broke open for 15 yards for a score four minutes into the second half.

Rick Starosta snared a 7-yard pass for a TD and a 53-0 lead.

Turner's next TD catch in the waning minute of the third period gave the home team a laughable lead of 59-0.

Luke Tesch made it a 3-TD night when he scored from 25-yards out.

The final five minutes passed without incident.

Linemen to lead Sequoits as season unfolds

The Antioch High coaching staff did not have to spend much of the pre-season drills introducing the offensive line to one another.

These Antioch gridiron veterans have been blocking for running backs and quarterbacks since their days in the youth Viking football program.

"It helps a lot because we have worked together and know each other," Jason Ultes, one of the senior linemen, said. "We have played football together since seventh grade."

He is accompanied by Brian Dembinski, Dan Wiegel, Jeff Bringer and Kyle Wisniewski as senior linemen looking to win the battle of the trenches.

The Sequoits return five starting linemen and two backs and six defenders from a 4-5 team last year.

Junior Dave Gooch looks to be the top candidate at quarterback as the Sequoits ready for their Aug. 31 opener at Libertyville. Junior Karl Richter is also a signal caller.

Senior Joe Day may lead the running backs.

"We plan on keeping the same stuff, with the no-huddle offense," ACHS mentor Del Pechauer said.

The Sequoits competed in seven-on-seven passing leagues, at Grant, but the coaching staff did not put much stock in them. "We never won a passing league game. But we have had great passing leagues and have had terrible seasons," Pechauer said.

The kicking game rests in the foot of Bob English for points-after while the punting job was there for the taking.

Jason Bolton is back after suffering a season-ending knee injury early last year.

Brian Ford is another senior leader. "We all feel we can do that - the goal is clear - to make the playoffs," he said.

Once again, the schedule maker was no friend of the Sequoits.

"We open with Libertyville and Stevenson in our first two games, so we could be like last year at 0-2. But we have three night games this year," Pechauer said.

"We all feel we can do that - the goal is clear - to make the playoffs."

— Del Pechauer

Jenkins reflects on the Cubs, future hopes

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

The improvement of Steve Trachel and the consistency of Jamie Navarro have been two factors which have carried the Chicago Cubs to the .500 mark this season.

Beyond those two, there are several question marks - which may or may not be answered but as far as the team's pitching coach is concerned, should be in the long run.

Ferguson Jenkins, fresh from a Cub win Saturday over Houston, talked his favorite topic - that night at Paradise Beach Club in Ingleside.

"Steve is more of a power pitcher than Gregg Maddux (former Cub now with Atlanta). They had similar early stages to their careers. He could win 15 games this year. He (Trachsel) has lost some weight and last year he had some personal problems and they all have been straightened out," Jenkins said.

Jenkins wears the same No. 31 he wore in six 20-win seasons with the Cubs in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

"I approach it as a teacher would," Jenkins, in town for a taping of a radio talk show "Diamond Gems" said.

Jenkins entered the Hall of Fame in 1992, with teammates Ernie Banks and Billy Williams. He figures Ron Santo should be there soon.

As for the present Cubs:

"I feel we are two players away from being a bonafide contender. We need in more left-handed power hitter and another starter. The strategy of the bullpen has been by one of committee. It is a format done by Rigglesman and we always want to have two guys left in the ninth inning," he said.

"Pitching is the biggest problem area. We need to get good pitching. We have to have guys like Amaurey Telemarco and Frank Castillo have to step it up," he said.

Jenkins said catchers Scott Servais, Mike Hubbard and rookie Tyler Houston have done a good job handling the pitching staff.

Navarro's early-season antics when things did not go well can be attributed to his competitiveness. "He is highly competitive. He has a competitive spirit who wants to win so badly and hates to lose close games and is very demonstrative on the field," he said.

The Hall-of-Famer said there are catcher and pitcher meetings which himself, manager Jim Rigglesman before each game. "We go over how to pitch to certain hitters, and the strategy does not change if a starting pitcher has to leave the game," he said.

Jenkins pitched in an era when the complete nine-inning effort was something that was expected. "It was the fact you went into it with the desire to do a lot of hard work and be a workhorse," Jenkins said. Jenkins played football and track and field while growing up in Ontario, Canada. He was first in the minor league system of the Philadelphia Phillies before the Cubs acquired him.

"I never had any problems with the league, except in the Philadelphia system we had to travel to the south," Jenkins said of the way African-Americans were treated.

He was instantly welcomed to Wrigley Field when he made his Cub debut. He fell in love with the old ballpark and that aspect has never changed. "Wrigley Field is the best place to play. There are great fans and Chicago has a lot of memories for my career," Jenkins, who retired in 1983, said.

Jenkins was told he won more often than not against the top rival of his day, Bob Gibson of the Cardinals.

"It was always a big challenge to beat him because of the rivalry with the two clubs.

"You still have good rivalries among the base clubs, such as the New York and West Coast teams. The wildcard enhanced the fan interest," he said.

Interleague play, beginning of which, should stimulate fan interest next year.

The off-season rancher who watched Larry Doby hit home runs when he was growing up assessed the state of the game today.

"You have guys like Mark Grace (Cubs), Mark MacGuire (A's), who are veteran players who have established careers, but you will never have another Mickey Mantle or Sandy Koufax."

"I was a fan and I am a fan as a coach. They really hurt the game with a strike. I do not see another work stoppage. We need a long-term basic agreement so it will never happen again," Jenkins said.

Then, after a few autographs, it was back home. A chance at .500 and a dramatic 10-8 win over Houston beconked the next day. With a 1:20 p.m. start, of course.

Healthy Corsairs hoping to measure up

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Good health and being a Carmel football player have not been a consistent combination of late.

"Last year we lost three starters. When Mike Graham got hurt, that took away an entire area of our offense. But the kids bounced back, and a lot of that has to do with the winning tradition," Carmel coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

The Ruben Rivera, Nick Yeager and Steve Goblowski led Corsairs did indeed bounce back, making the playoff before a heartbreaking 7-6 loss to Joliet Catholic.

Those familiar faces are gone, but Carmel has plenty of hope as it begins its association with the Catholic Metropolitan League.

"Experience wise we are short-handed. We have more depth in the past and are more athletic, but not in the skilled positions," Fitzgibbons said after a week of practice.

Kevin Dix, as 6-foot, 150 pound junior, is the leading candidate for the starting QB role.

"He is a bright kid," the coach said. Challenging Dix is Kyle Kelley, a 5-8, 150 pounder.

Jim Hannah is back in the ace back position and started games for the Corsairs before a season-ending arm injury.

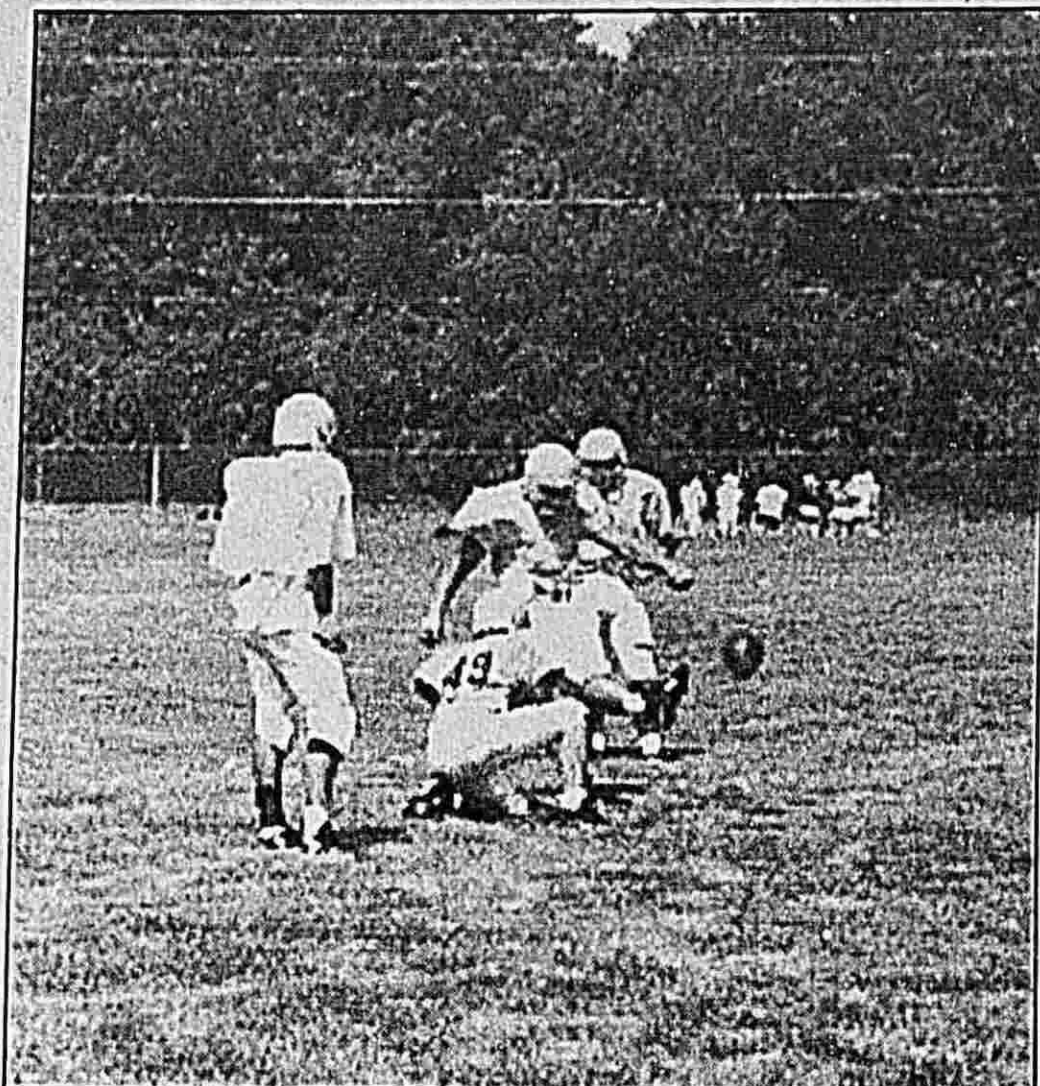

"He is in great condition - he lost 15 pounds," Fitzgibbons said.

Defenses should be on the lookout for speedy junior John O'Malley, 5-5, 130.

"He is very quick and fast. Our defenders have had a hard time finding him. He runs behind big offensive linemen," Fitzgibbons said.

Sophomore Jon Styx is a 5-10, 179 pounder who has been described as explosive by Fitzgibbons.

Leading linemen on offense include Jim Koelper, a 6-1, 174 pound senior; Jason Chillick is 6-5, 265 pound guard who has "great feet for a big kid," Fitzgibbons said. Rafael Lozano is a 6-5, 246 pound center; Jonathan Schmitz is a 6-5, 365 pound junior and guard Dan May checks in at 6-2, 235. Jon Lueck checks in at 6-1, 203 and Peter Meyers is a 6-0, 219 pound tackle. Larry Carmel's Mark Staehle holds the football for Mark Harmon as he works on his punting. The Corsairs open the season Aug. 31 when they face Fenwick.

Quinn is a 6-2 198 pound senior tackle.

"Linebackers are the strength of this team," Fitzgibbons said.

Dan Potempa, last year's second-leading tackler, returns. Senior Mike Hunn, injured in the first game last year is back at 6-0, 188 as is Chris Cunnie, who started every game.

In the secondary: Mark Staehle, 5-8, 174; Andy Sczygielski, a 5-11, 153 pound senior; senior Brian Hood, 5-10, 160 and junior Jake Arzur, 5-10, 148.

Senior linemen Matt Huster, 6-1, 198 figures to lead the war in the trenches from the defense and will be assisted by Dave Lawlor, a 6-2, 232 pound junior. Kevin Brandl, Jerry McMahon and soph Mark Harmon look to contribute.

"It will be different this year. It should be the same as the East Suburban Catholic Conference - a couple of super teams with the rest pretty good," Fitzgibbons said.

Starting Aug. 31 at Illinois Benedictine College against Fenwick, Carmel hopes to make the "pretty good" status of the huge 24-team, four division association.

Carmel is in the blue division along with Gordon Tech, Chicago Hales Franciscan, Benet and Niles Notre Dame. That accounts for five games a year plus cross-overs, which change every two years.

Carmel's biggest need as Aug. 31 draws near?

"We need experience and the best way to get that is repetition at practice," Fitzgibbons said.

Sheriff's Marine Unit advises personal watercraft users

Personal watercraft, such as jet-skis, waverunners, and Ski-doo's are the fastest growing segment of the recreational boating market.

With this growth in popularity has come an increase in the number of accidents directly related to the unsafe and reckless operation of these easily maneuverable small watercraft. While the number of personal watercraft is under 10 percent of all registered vessels in Illinois, they account for 44 percent of all reported accidents.

The U.S. Coast Guard reports that in 1994, 3,002 personal watercraft were involved in accidents which resulted in 1,338 injuries and 56 fatalities.

These statistics are directly related to the fact that most operators are "first-time boaters" who are not fully aware of the dangers of unsafe operation, or who don't know the boating rules of operation. The following are several important precautionary steps to take when operating a personal watercraft:

- Be aware of your surroundings. Keep a watchful eye on other boaters and "look before making sudden changes in direction."
- Do not jump the wake of other vessels. You can easily get "sucked" by the other boat's wake or collide with a boat that is traveling in the opposite direction.
- Do not pass close to, or under the bow of boats under way, especially larger vessels.

• Obey all posted regulations and no wake signs. On the Chain Of Lakes, obey the "150 feet from shore" no wake regulation.

• Keep a safe distance away from boats, piers, bridges, and swimmers. Don't overpower the vessel, some can reach up to 50 mph.

• State law mandates that you may operate a personal watercraft only between sunrise and sunset.

• Keep your whistle attached to your vest or on a neck line. Your whistle will not help you avoid a collision if it is stowed under the seat.

• Above all, use common sense and courtesy to make your ride enjoyable for everyone.

• Boaters may alert the Sheriff's Police of any type of unsafe boaters by contacting the Marine Unit on Ship to Shore Radio Channel 16. Get any basic information such as color, length, make, number of persons on board, and registration numbers of the boat. A cellular phone can also be used.

For further information contact Captain Willie Smith, Lake County Sheriff's Police Marine Safety Unit Commander at 587-4470.

Revamped playground for Millburn kids

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Millburn School students will notice a few changes when they walk through the doors for the first time.

Probably the most important item is final work for a playground addition funded by the Parent Teacher Organization (PTO).

The United Way volunteers will spread 100 pounds of wood chips Aug. 23 for the "Day of Caring."

Approximately $15,000 was donated by PTO for the playground upgrade.

With the help of a March education fund referendum, the school will hire an additional fourth-grade teacher.

There will be a few more students than last year. Already 453 students have registered, up from 441 at the end of last year.

"We have had quite a few new kids, but we have lost a few as well," said Superintendent James Menzer.

With new homes comes new bus routes. There will be stops at Deerpath, Country Place and a longer route for Heritage Trail subdivision.

Teachers will report to school Aug. 26. The first day of school is Aug. 27. The first day is a half day and will end at 11:30 a.m.

Aug. 28 will be a full school day.

Survey guides Extension government programming

The best way to determine the need for and impact of educational programs is to ask the people who use them. That's exactly what the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service did when it surveyed more than 600 local, elected officials about what types of training they needed.

"We wanted to see what these officials felt were the areas of greatest need," explained Jim Betustak, leader of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service's Lake County Unit. "We will be addressing the findings in future programs for officials."

Undertaken earlier this year, the survey gained a response rate of more than 45 percent, extremely high for most surveys. Groups surveyed included county board members, library trustees, mayors, aldermen/commissioners, park commissioners, township officials, and school board members.

"The response rate shows the commitment of local officials to do a good job for the public by pursuing training and educational opportunities," said Betustak.

More than two-thirds of the respondents have been in office less than six years and nearly half between one and three years.

"A need for educational programs to help them fulfill their jobs was perceived by 99.6 percent of the respondents," said Betustak.

Three program areas were identified by respondents as most useful to them in fulfilling their public duties. These were financial management (49.8 percent), leadership development (45.5 percent), and economic development (42.4 percent).

Betustak said the data will continue to be analyzed to help structure upcoming Extension programs for local officials in Lake County.

Introducing Metra's North Central Service.

Metra's new North Central Service is big news for residents in Lake and northern Cook counties. Initial train service consists of four weekday inbound and outbound trains serving ten communities between Antioch and Chicago's Union Station plus a transfer stop at O'Hare International Airport, Remote Parking Lot F.

The North Central Service is ideal for customers who travel to downtown Chicago during regular business hours. For customers with only morning business, an early afternoon train departure is also available. To ensure service flexibility during midday and evening hours, Pace provides supplemental bus service that links stations along the North Central Service with three other Metra rail lines.

Request your copy of Metra's "North Central Service Rider's Guide," which details station and parking information, train and bus schedules, fares and ticket programs.

Citizens heard; County to study zoning changes

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) said the magic words as far as environmental protection activists were concerned regarding administration and enforcement of county zoning and building ordinances covering flooding.

"There is room for improvement," Newton asserted after members of the zoning and building committee viewed Part II of a film prepared by the Impact Coalition of Western Lake County on flooding, erosion and lack of county enforcement.

The second of two films prepared by the activist organization focused on problems and abuses involving Fairfield Marsh, a protected wetland connected to the Chain O' Lakes that has been viewed by environmentalists as suffering abuses by developers in and around Round Lake Heights and inattention by the county and Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

Suzanne Harris, coalition co-chair, quoted from Environmental Protection Agency standards where the marsh and nearby areas in Grant Township have been suffering from developer abuses and lack of consistent application of county zoning and building codes.

"We're not pointing fingers. We're in duress," asserted Harris, who recommended that officials view flooding and silting problems from the viewpoint of the entire Fox River Basin.

Harris and Kim Eudy, the other co-chair, recommended that the county adopt a new .09 water release rate from flood detention areas to replace the current standard of .15, which would effectively double current stormwater detention standards.

Chairman Dick Raftis (R-Wildwood) asked where Harris got the figure. Brandishing a 12 page presentation prepared especially for the committee, Harris explained that the figure has been adopted by the federal government and several county municipalities and is based on "best available information."

Harris asserted that developers can't keep building "the same way" in flood prone northwest Lake County areas that are linked to the Chain O' Lakes. "We need your help," Harris declared, appealing to the committee for new policies and stronger enforcement of existing ordinances.

Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) wanted to know how builders can begin excavating before all permits are issued?

Rep. Carol Stolman (D-Highland Park) said while it is important to draw distinctions in various parts of the county, new policies and procedures can't be drawn See ZONING page B6

Metra service finally rolls across County

AMANDA MILLER
Staff Reporter

Lake County residents seem to all agree on one subject this week—Metra is on track.

Metra's new North Central Service line inaugural run Aug. 18 was as American as apple pie complete with fanfare, politicians, large crowds and democracy in action.

More than 100 members of Citizens for Sound Transportation (COST) gathered at the Antioch Train Station site to give Gov. Jim Edgar and other politicians a statement on the lack of support for the extension of Rte. 53 through Lake County.

"We thought this was a good forum to praise Metra for offering alternatives to car traffic," said Debbie Giles of Mundelein Against the Tollway, one of many groups comprised by COST. "Our idea was not to disrupt or steal Metra's show. It was their day and a very deserved day. We wanted to get a message to Gov. Edgar and the other politicians about the amount of anti-Rte. 53 sentiment that exists in the suburbs."

The completion of the North Central line has been more than a decade in the works with more than a century of history behind it.

In the early 1800s, the original Wisconsin Central line was built through the area where the new line exists. The Wisconsin Central line provided freight and passenger service at that time. In the early 1900s the Soo Line took control of the line. Passenger trains still existed and ran between Chicago, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. These trips, however, were not feasible for commuters on a day-to-day basis.

Around the 1960s, all passenger service had ceased on the Soo Line. The Soo Line then sold this area's portion of the line back to a new independent operator that gave it the Wisconsin Central name.

Finally in the 1980s, a plan was brought up to bring passenger service back to a growing area. At first the line wasn't going to be See METRA page B6

Love keeps couples ticking 70 years later

SUZIE REED
Staff Reporter

Imagine looking at the same person over the breakfast table for more than 70 years. One couple is prepared to make a commitment for another 70 years.

Nick and Louise Mayworm, married since 1925, joined five other couples in a special wedding ceremony at Hawthorn Lakes Retirement Community as residents celebrated the lasting marriages of George and Romaine Dell (1933), Rudy and Gretchen Heckman (1934), Ralph and Marie Mott (1935), Herbert and Charlotte Duenow (1936), and Paul and Laurette Snyder (1938).

"We have quite a few married couples (21) here at Hawthorn Lakes," said Activities Director Kathy Morris. "We thought it would be nice to offer them an opportunity to renew their vows."

Morris is always coming up with ideas to get residents to become involved in activities at the retirement community, said "bridegroom" Herbert Duenow, 86. A typical husband, he had to look up the actual date of his wedding (July 20).

"We met at Washington University in St. Louis," he said. "Then I went to Eaton Seminary."

A minister for the United Church of Christ, Rev. Duenow and Charlotte lived in Kansas City for a number of years and moved to Oak Park about 40 years ago. He later served at the Washburn Congregational Church on Half Day Road, he said. He was also a professional book reviewer for 40 years.

Love

The couple has traveled extensively; Duenow said they were stranded in the Himalayas during the Afghanistan crisis. They moved into a Hawthorn Lakes apartment last year.

Family and friends of the couples gathered Friday afternoon as resident Ann Ewig played the piano.

"We're making our mezzanine into a chapel," said Morris. "We've had a lot of fun preparing for it."

The decorations included a flowered trellis and a bridal runner for the couples to walk "down the aisle." Judge Raymond McKoski of the 19th Judicial Court was on hand perform the ceremony. McKoski is a frequent visitor to Hawthorn Lakes, serving as moderator for a number of Senior Forums, a series of lively discussions about current affairs. This was a different experience for the judge, who, after some thought, said he has been married 24 years.

"Judges don't have a lot of chances to feel good about what they do," he commented. "They have set the standard other people getting married for the first time will try to achieve."

As the strains of Lohengrin drifted through the room, and a number of residents and staff watched from the balconies, each couple proceeded down the aisle under their own steam. Those with canes left them at the rear of the room. McKoski introduced each couple as they reached the "altar," ending with the Mayworms, whom he said had been together a "mere 71 years." Married at ages 16 and 18, the two lovebirds marched down the aisle with an en energy that belied their years. In the audience were their son and his wife, now in their 50th year of marriage.

"You took a great step in your life many years ago," he told the six couples. "You renew that commitment here today."

He asked whether they were "willing to continue this obligation," and whether they would "continue to take this woman/man . . .," prompting laughter from the bridal couple as well as the audience. "Your actions over the years have spoken louder than words," he told them as the ceremony ended with the traditional lingering kiss and the presentation of each couple. Servers moved through the crowd with champagne, sparkling juice, and slices of a traditional wedding cake, as the six couples prepared to continue their lives together.

Former Village mayor dies

LAKE ZURICH—Former Village Mayor Alton "Tony" M. Kuechmann died Aug. 14 at the age of 91.

Kuechmann was an active man, becoming ill about one month ago before he was taken to Good Shepherd Hospital, where he died of kidney failure. Kuechmann served one term as mayor from 1953 to 1957, continuing his service to the village through the 1990s, when he completed a 20-year-term as chairman of the Village Police Pension Board.

He served as music director of St. Peter United Church of Christ in Lake Zurich for 42 years until his retirement in 1994.

Members of the Lake Zurich Police and Fire Department's paid their respects by having their honor guards stand at attention during Kuechmann's visitation at St. Peter's Aug. 16, and with members of both department's acting as pallbearers at his funeral the next morning.

He was buried in Lake Zurich Cemetery, a quarter-mile away from the church. The procession was a bit longer, however, as it passed by his home and Kuechmann Park, named in his honor. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Entrepreneur wins contest

WAUCONDA—The village has its own little entrepreneur who used her money saving tips to win a $500 U.S. Savings Bond from Merrill Lynch.

Jolene Bateman's essay on "The Importance of Saving" was chosen among thousands of entries as one of 10 first place winners in her age group in the National Saving Month Multimedia Contest.

Students from across the country entered the contest sponsored by the financial firm, explaining their money saving and investing tips in the form of essays, posters and self-produced videos.

Jolene, a 13-year-old eighth grade student at Wauconda Grade School, wrote an essay on the importance of saving money at a young age to achieve short, intermediate and long term goals.

For her efforts, Jolene was awarded a $500 U.S. Savings Bond, a baseball cap with the National Savings Month logo, and a congratulatory letter. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Pay squabble at township

LAKE VILLA—Township trustees voted 3-2 on a pay hike for the all elected officials including the township supervisor, clerk, assessor, highway commissioner and trustees.

Trustees Joe Hamm, Carolyn Siebert and Michelle Wolf voted in favor of the new pay.

Township Supervisor Sue Hanson and Sue Prochnow voted against the plan. The assessor pay will rise $3,000 in one year. Hanson said she felt all the salaries should be frozen at current rates. The clerk, trustee and highway commissioner pay remained the same. The salaries won't go into effect until after the 1997 election. —by ALEC JUNG

Village plans cool reception

MUNDELEIN—A senior housing complex may be on the way if a developer can convince the village such an undertaking would be viable.

Mayor Marilyn Sindles said she has been contacted on numerous occasions by a developer who would like to make a presentation on locating such a project on S. Midlothian Rd. Many feel there is a shortage of senior housing in the village.

"We must be very careful not to give him any kind of decision on whether we would be favoring this," she warned.

An informational presentation has been set for Sept. 9. —by SUZIE REED

Nixon-JFK debate recalled

LINDENHURST—On the eve of the Democratic National Convention Don Kahn, a former Chicago Republican ward boss, took time to reminisce about the Richard Nixon—John Kennedy debate in 1960. The debate is one that is still talked about to this day. Kahn remembers telling Nixon he should have never said he agreed with Kennedy on anything. He also told Nixon to wear a blue shirt because it showed up better on black and white TV. He mentioned the Democratic political machine during that era ignored a gentleman's agreement not to have anyone outside the TV studio. Kahn said the late Richard J. Daley had the street lined with ward bosses. —by ALEC JUNG

Pro wins nod at Gurnee Mills

GURNEE—A sweetened portion of the sales tax pie was one of the major reasons why Gurnee Mills landed its largest fish yet - Bass Pro Outdoor World, Inc.

Gurnee trustees concluded months of negotiations by approving signage, an annexation agreement which approves recreational vehicle sales and changes in the sales tax agreement with Western Development Corp.

"We suggested the change be made in the sales tax rebate. We were asked to put $15 million in public improvements at Gurnee Mills and we did just less than $20 million. There is only so much that is available. And it is all performance based. If we do not perform well, we do not get the money," Steven Jacobsen, vice president of Gurnee Mills owner Western Development Corp. said.

James Hayner, Gurnee village administrator, explained under the new terms of the sales tax plan, the agreement is extended for three years to 2,005. Western Development Corp. could see an additional $2.5 million in its sales tax share.

Presently, the village receives 100 percent of the first $500,000 in sales tax of a calendar year. The next $2 million the village gets 75 percent and anything over $2 million is spread 50-50.

Bass Pro was lauded as "the second coming of Gurnee Mills" as it is expected to begin construction this September.

It could help the Mills generate $8.5 million in sales tax.

"Overall, it will have a significant impact on our revenue," Hayner said. —by STEVE PETERSON

Celebrate season's end

LIBERTYVILLE—Summer is winding down and with it the opportunity to enjoy the outdoors during "Out to Lunch" in Cook Park. The vendors will only be at the park from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. through Aug. 30. The Farmer's Market, however, will continue from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. through Oct. 17.

"It's brought new business and new life to downtown," said Dan Timm, executive director of MainStreet.

Many people in the area have made "Out to Lunch" a Friday tradition.

Scheduled entertainment for Aug. 23 is a blues sound from Rollin' & Tumblin' and Jimmie Lee Robinson. The finale will feature Big Guitars from Memphis, playing "twang rock" on Aug. 30. —by SUZIE REED

Young girl's wish comes true

GRAYSLAKE—Barbie Stahnke received her heart's desire — a brand new bike to ride in the Grayslake Summer Days parade.

She had always wanted a bike, but 11-year-old Barbie has a degenerative disease called Mitochondrial Cytopathy, which acts similar to Muscular Dystrophy, affecting her ability to power a normal bike. So in stepped the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Northern Illinois to give her a bike that fit her needs.

"People stop us and ask 'How did she get that?' and say 'What a neat idea.' This is something she can get outside and ride and be active with the other kids," said Barbie's mom Darlene Stahnke.

Make-A-Wish is a non-profit organization which grants the wishes of children under 18-years-old who have a life-threatening illness. The agency successfully rounded up some skilled people to make a motorized bike for Barbie, the daughter of Darlene and Rick Stahnke of Round Lake Park. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Hawthorn bows to Oaks

VERNON HILLS—Putting children ahead of another lengthy court battle, Hawthorn Dist. 73 opted not to pursue further legal action to protect a de-annexation request by residents living in The Oaks subdivision in Libertyville. By not taking any further action, nine students living in the subdivision will attend Libertyville Elementary Dist. 70 schools. Parents from the subdivision, which is split between the two school districts, argued their children associate more with Libertyville schools than with Vernon Hills-based Hawthorn schools.

Hawthorn stands to lose approximately $150,000 annually in tax revenue as a result of the de-annexation. Officials do not support two lower court rulings in favor of The Oaks residents, saying it sets a dangerous precedent to gerrymander school districts almost at will. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Club gives to preserves

LINCOLNSHIRE—The Lincolnshire Garden Club became the first civic group to become a Lake County Forest Preserve "Preservation Partner." The club made a $1,175 donation to the forest preserve to continue planting oak trees at an oaks savanna near Lincolnshire. Over the last two years, several Lake County junior and high school groups have become "Preservation Partners" by completing conservation projects to help restore natural areas in Lake County Forest Preserves. —STAFF REPORT

Gays harassed by youths

FOX LAKE—Two youths may be charged with hate crimes, a felony in the State of Illinois, after they were arrested for harassing a gay couple in town late last week. "There's been a number of complaints," said Fox Lake Police Lt. Edward Gerretsen. He explained for about two years the couple residing on Garfield Avenue have been under fire for their lifestyle. The youths were charged with smearing human feces on the house and throwing toilet paper throughout the yard. Lt. Gerretsen said, "They (the gay couple) deserve to be left alone, and live their lives as anybody else." —by TINA L. SWIECH

E-Tags to be offered for sale by five Lake County Churches

On Saturday, Sept. 7 and Sunday, Sept. 8, five Lake County Churches will offer E-Tags for sale to citizens in their surrounding communities. The churches will be open to receive inquiries and help place E-Tag orders from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both dates.

E-Tag stands for "Emergency Tag." It is a small plastic tag which contains the E-Tag logo on one side and up to 12 lines of emergency information on the other, such as name, address, telephone number, date of birth, blood type, medical conditions and drug allergies. This information is crucial for doctors, paramedics and public safety officers to render assistance more quickly in the event of an emergency. E-Tag is designed to be laced onto a shoe, attached to a jacket zipper or worn around the neck like a pendant.

The five churches which will offer E-Tags for sale are: Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, 25519 W. Hwy 134, Ingleside; St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, 3350 N. Delaney Rd., Waukegan; St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Rte. 59 & Hillside, Antioch; Faith Lutheran Church, 1966 W. Hawley St., Mundelein; St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, 10 S. Lake St., Mundelein.

The E-Tags are priced at $14.95 each. The churches are engaging in the E-Tag Project raise community awareness, enhance public safety and raise money for worthy projects designated by each church.

Wildlife policies missing reality

Politicians and professionals dealing with wildlife management issues often ignore that times have changed. That could be one of the underlying causes why Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. President Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) chose to unilaterally disband the Wildlife Advisory Committee.

That and the fact that the committee frequently was at odds with staff and district policy. Davida Terry, renowned "Deer Lady" and wildlife activist, an original member of the committee formed in 1989 to help Forest Preserve commissioners sort out knotty problems, said LaBelle scuttled the group because "we were making the commissioners and staff members look bad."

Terry's known biases and outspokenness aside, elected officials still need input from the public and taxpayers to do their job properly. Elimination of the advisory group wasn't exactly a red letter day for democratic, representative government.

In the same breath that he announced disbandment of the wildlife advisers, LaBelle said he was organizing a larger, broader-based citizens group to advise commissioners and staff. Terry dismissed the follow-up committee as a "rubber stamp."

At the heart of wildlife discord is the perpetuation of policies and practices, particularly in the case of deer culling and hunting, that stem from the days when a majority of Americans lived off the land. Today, most citizens are interested in wildlife preservation. They want to co-exist with nature's creatures.

How many neighbors do you have who take gun or bow in hand to put meat on the table?

Media complains, shows liberal bias

Major network news commentators and many reporters whined and wailed that the polished and professionally produced Republican convention in San Diego was a "non-news" event.

Their complaints clearly showed the overwhelming liberal, Democratic bias of the mainstream media. Ted Koppel's putting pullout of ABC's "Nightline" coverage symbolizes how one-sided political reporting, especially on a national level, has become.

The over-riding reaction to media complaints about a staged convention is "who cares?" Certainly not Republicans. If, as the pundits pointed out, the national television audience was turned-off by the well orchestrated GOP convention, the question begs, "So what?" A national political convention is for party members, not their opponents or a disinterested public. From our vantage point, the delegates seemed to be having a whale of a time. We expect to see that evidenced again next week when Democrats convene in Chicago.

Question? Will the howls of anguish over a theatrical, "non-news" Democratic convention be just as profuse? Ironically, the network and big paper display of petulance just showed true colors.

Family produce belies valuation

If it were not for the specter of Rte. 53 hanging over their heads, Debbie and Tony Titus would be living the American Dream, working at an occupation they love with the opportunity to keep doing it.

The Tituses' are vegetable growers, operating a spread of approximately 70 acres touching three communities that provide a lively market for their produce, Libertyville, Mundelein and Grayslake. This is their busy season with colorful community farmer's markets providing lucrative outlets for their homegrown products. The Titus farm stand on Rte. 83 has become a local legend.

Unfortunately, their days as self-employed vegetable growers may be numbered if the Rte. 53 juggernaut gains steam, the prospective tollway extension slicing through the Titus farm and putting the family out of business.

If that happens, yes, Debbie and Tony and their family partners will be well compensated (well, maybe pretty well) for the loss of their farm land. Who will be the losers? Certainly their customers, the ones who put high value on the really sweet sweetcorn, juicy red tomatoes and other delicious products offered by the Titus family. The full value of locally grown, field-ripened produce won't be known until it's no longer available.

Women's center eyes financial crossroads

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Once a substance-abusing mother understands there is a way out of the abyss of poverty, a big step has been taken to help her become self sufficient and a productive member of society.

Recently we wrote about the remarkable achievements of the Women and Children's Center in providing addicted mothers with a ladder to respectability. The center's ladder may be teetering in 12 months due to funding problems.

The center is sponsored by the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA), a multi-service agency established 30 years ago in a Waukegan store front with one employee. Today the agency operates with a budget in excess of $2 million and a staff of highly qualified professionals supported by scores of volunteers.

Nearly three years ago the Women and Children's Center came into being out of the conviction of NICASA that providing drug abusing mothers with treatment, day care for their children and a pathway out of poverty would bring about beneficial changes in their dismal lives.

The center has not only fulfilled NICASA hopes, but exceeded on a scale that has achieved national recognition. "We've demonstrated that our program works," explained Judy H. Fried, executive director.

Private industry has provided key rungs in the ladder for drug abusers whose life was marked by domestic violence, hopelessness, victimization, racism and sexual abuse. Many of the women in the program know welfare as a life-long experience.

Fried hopes the private sector will become an even larger source of funds and support after federal funding ends Sept. 30. NICASA agencies operate on grants, fees, United Way contributions and fund raising, the latter accounting for about 20 percent of the operating budget.

No private concern can do more than Abbott Laboratories and Manpower Temporary Services that have provided employment opportunities to original center graduates. A University of Illinois survey team found that 31 percent of center grads secured jobs at an average of 25 hours per week.

The center pays big dividends to society. A cocaine free baby saves an estimated $500,000. When families are reunited, the U of I study estimated an annual savings to society of $36,000 to $50,000 based on an average of $3,600 to $5,000 in annual foster care expenses for 10 clients.

Besides training for general equivalency diplomas (GED), the center program includes parenting, skill building, outreach, transportation and nutrition training. At the end there is the reward of the all important job.

Lisa S., in her early 20s, entered the center with four children. In the public aid system since birth, she had never been gainfully employed. After completion of the center program, Lisa got a part-time job at Abbott. She is attending College of Lake County full-time on her way to becoming a nurse.

By spreading the story of center success, Fried hopes there will be an outpouring of support from the Lake County community. "We'll be OK in the coming year, but after that, I don't know," the executive director remarked.

NICASA officials cringe when Democrat and Republican politicians argue about how social agencies should be supported. "It really should be a bipartisan effort," Fried emphasized. Heavily Republican Lake County will be on the spot in determining the center's future when the money well runs dry next year.

Twiddle-dee parties ignore future disaster

GRANT D. NOBLE

Our two major parties are doing their best to pretend otherwise, but the real convention story is our political monocul-tax cuts were washed away with the "technical corrections" of 1982, the tax "reform" of 1986, etc., the pittance Dole is offering will soon be overwhelmed by a ly touted "welfare reform" bill is filled with thousands of federal regulations states must adhere to while they get less federal money. Like the "health care reform," it's just another unfunded federal mandate. When you hear the word "bipartisan" put on a bill, you can always substitute the words "Washington Power Grab" in its place.

3. Both parties support Nafta and Gatt despite the fact they have done everything their critics said they would do—destroy low paying jobs without stimulating any new jobs. Even worse, it has left this nation at the mercy of international "commissions" that are stacked with U.S. hating foreigners. For example, Mexican tomatoes sell for $2 for a 25 pound box that costs Florida farmers $6 a box just to produce. But the International Trade Commission ruled the illegal Mexican dumping is not injuring Florida's tomato farmers!

4. Both parties (and their Presidential nominees) are hip-deep in conflicts of interest and various forms of special interest bribery. Common sense reforms (term limits, cutting out pensions and other incumbency protection perks like "franked mail," forbidding campaign contributions to those living outside the district, etc.) are being checked by leaders of both parties.

1. Over five years, the "bold" Dole tax cuts amount to a little more than 1 percent of U.S. Gross Domestic Product. Nor does it do away with the 10,000 page tax code, loaded with special interest loopholes. Just like the Reagan "bipartisan solution" (i.e., another massive tax hike like 1982) to "save" Social Security, etc.

2. Our "radical" Republican congress continued to increase the size and power of the federal government with "anti-terrorism," "clean water" and "Kennedy-Kassenbaum health care reform" bills. Even the high-

PARTY LINES

Illinois delegation rallies beyond Dole, Kemp and Salvi

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Sporting buttons of support for Lake County's own Al Salvi, Lake County Republicans attending the Republican National Convention in San Diego came away with strong support for the Dole/Kemp platform and high hopes for November.

"Bob Dole articulated the Republican platform very well," said Meredith Dam of Fox Lake who was interviewed by WLS-TV's Hugh Hill from the convention floor.

The Illinois delegation was led by Gov.

Jim Edgar with House Majority Leader Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) serving as floor coordinator. State Rep. Andrea Moore, Georgeann Depke and Dr. William Dam were delegates.

"The values and principles we carry in our hearts determined the success of our efforts," said Dam. "Bob Dole wins that race hands down."

The buttons for Salvi raised a chuckle from Salvi's primary supporters considering the snub he was given by Lake County leaders. Seems fences have been mended.

Representative Betty Lou Reed was an able substitute for Congressman John Porter (R-Ill.) at ceremonies in Antioch for the inauguration of Metra's North Central Service.

Reed was one of the most popular public figures in Lake County politics when she represented a U-shaped district including north and west Lake County and an arm extending to Deerfield where she resides.

Reed was among the trailblazers for women in politics.

What was it?— Illinois Tollway Authority Comm. Bob Neal, Lake County's political, Mr. Everything, managed a grim smile (or was it a wince?) when an airplane flew over the Antioch new Metra station pulling a banner rapping Route 53 tollway extension plans.

Neal supports the proposed tollway, which would impact central Lake County. Neal resides in Wadsworth and represents a County Board district in the northeast sector of the county.

Women to rally— United States Senate Candidate Al Salvi and incumbent Congressman John Porter of the 10th congressional district will be featured guests at a breakfast buffet sponsored by the Women's Republican Club of the 10th District, Sept. 7.

The program begins at 8:30 a.m. at the Lincolnshire Marriott Resort, 10 Marriott Drive in Lincolnshire.

Tickets are $12.50 per person or $25 (preferred seating). For more information call 433-2288.

Fighting back— Illinois State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-60th) has accepted the positions of District director and member of the legislative committee of the Illinois State Crime Commission. Gash, an attorney, is a member of the Illinois House Criminal Judiciary committee and a former associate editor of the "American Criminal Law Review."

Riding the rails—Those invited to board the inaugural ride of Metra's North Central Service Line included former Mundelein trustees Jeffrey Hayes, who resigned several months ago, and Gerald Caslavka, Jim Keeney, and Pam Kerpec, who were defeated in the 1995 election. During the ride to Union Station, Mayor Marilyn Sindles was seated next to Keeney, who was briefly considered to fill the vacancy created by Hayes' resignation and ultimately filled by Angela Trillhaase.

Trillhaase came to the village celebration with her family but opted to skip the train ride to spend the afternoon with her husband Walt on their 12th wedding anniversary. Someone did bring her one of the commemorative Metra hats that were passed out on the train, however.

Getting kicked—Aren't members of the legal profession always getting kicked around? Take the latest "Joke of the Month." What do you call a lawyer with an IQ of 50? "Your Honor."

Calling Al—U.S. Senator Al D'Amato (R-N.Y.) was the power behind the force that got Al Salvi to interrupt his downstate motorhome campaign junket to make a surprise convention appearance in San Diego.

Salvi was none-the-worse for a couple of red-eye flights and a hectic Friday morning breakfast with Illinois delegates, not to mention the opportunity to shake hands with heavy Republican contributors from all over the U.S.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Rein in 'Chain madness'

Editor:

There were two profoundly sad articles in your paper last week. One related the trauma of Bob Heaney as he tries to go boating again after being involved in the tragic accident in Nippersink Lake that killed three people. The other article talked about the anger and sorrow Colleen Russo felt about the death of Arnold Carlson, her dad and one of the victims in the same accident.

The question neither article answered—or even posed—was: What are we going to do to prevent such tragedies from occurring again? I think that rather than writing off this tragedy as just a freak accident, we need to examine the increasingly insane atmosphere in the Chain, particularly on weekends, as more and larger boats, with bigger, noisier and more powerful engines jam into bodies of water that in many cases are in fact getting smaller, shallower and more fragile due to erosion and over exploitation. Nippersink is a prime example of this, as lily pads pop up over larger areas, leaving narrower channels for navigation. And most of Grass Lake is so shallow, it's inconceivable to me how it became the venue for high-speed boat racing.

Some boaters and marina owners react angrily at any mention of any regulation, and Waterway Agency officials indeed seem hesitant to bring up the subject. Even regulations that have been approved—such as the noise abatement law passed the General Assembly a couple of years ago—are ignored, for fear that it might offend the minority who feel that ear-splitting engines are an essential part of boating.

We have nothing to fear. In Lake Geneva, for example, authorities have limited boat size and power, and the tourist industry hardly collapsed. On the contrary, unless we do something to stop the madness in the Chain, accidents and bad publicity will ruin the attraction of the area as a recreational resource.

The best thing we could do to remember the three people who died is to start doing something to prevent this from happening again.

Authority contorts truth

Editor:

When it should be bending to public pressure, the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority is instead contorting the truth about the need for tolls on roads that have paid for themselves.

The Authority recently invoked its maintenance costs as a defense for the 40-cent tolls that still beset motorists on the Tri-State, Northwest and East-West tollways, which paid for themselves more than a decade ago. Unfortunately, the numbers don't seem to support the Authority's case.

Last year, the Toll Authority spent approximately $15.8 million maintaining the 187 miles that comprise the three original tollways. That same year, the Authority stowed away $43 million in profit, bringing the amount of surplus funds this public agency has sitting in storage to $356 million. That vast reserve, representing the revenues remaining after the Authority has paid its annual expenses, should serve as the first option when searching for funds to maintain the tollways without forcing drivers to withstand seemingly endless lines to pay 40 cents.

Moreover, the surplus—a stunning rarity in these days when other state agencies are gripped by fiscal crisis—argues persuasively that the Toll Authority could, at the very least, reduce tolls and, perhaps, eliminate some toll booths, while still maintaining its facilities in customary condition. Such action would be a welcome gesture of good will to growing number of citizens demanding that the Authority simply keep its promise to abolish tolls on roads that have paid for themselves.

To foster this good cheer, the Authority has to do little more than turn the proverbial key that would unlock its fortune. Instead, it labors mightily to find excuses for the status quo.

Investigation questioned

Editor:

As the long-time owner of a weekend home on Nippersink Lake, where a boating accident left three people dead, I'm puzzled by the lack of details about the accident, and how the investigation is being handled.

One of the people killed according to your paper, was intoxicated and had cocaine in his possession, after visiting Blarney Island. Which jurisdiction controls the goings-on in Blarney Island? The county sheriff? Antioch police? Who? Is there any effort to police possession and/or use of drugs on the Island? Is the owner of the establishment at all liable for not cutting off or controlling people who later on go out and are involved in an accident that kills three people? I think the bar owners on land would be.

And how could the owner of Mineola Marine be in charge of conducting and investigation of an accident THAT KILLED THREE PEOPLE? Shouldn't that be the province of the county sheriff or some other authority? Isn't it a conflict of interest for the owner of a marina and a restaurant/bar to conduct an investigation of a boating accident involving liquor?

Commentary

5. Maybe the Republicans will give us a fig leaf by not having our military serve directly under U.N. command. But whether we continue the same policy under N.A.T.O. (like Bosnia) or "multinational command" (like Haiti), it's obvious that Republican leadership also supports our role as policemen of the New World Order.

6. Neither party is saying boo about our Imperial Supreme Court, which dictates after dictat continues to do the political elite's dirty work on "affirmative action," "asset forfeiture," abortion, term limits, etc. It's obvious both parties are very uncomfortable with traditional views of Constitution liberties and personal morality.

I predict for the second election in a row, third party Presidential candidates will get more than 10 percent vote (for the first time since 1860.) Just like the period before the Civil War, one or both of the two major parties is going to disappear or be radically reformed. The Reform party and the Libertarians are portents of this new political future unless the chaos of a looming new Great Depression swallows up our 200-year-old Republic altogether.

brought up past the Northern Chicago area. But, political officials from the Northern Lake County area pushed to have the line brought up even farther.

"For ten years I have pushed to see the line come up through Antioch," said State Representative and Majority Leader Robert Churchill, "I was sure that the need for mass transit in this area would be here."

Metra was initially against this proposition because of the major amounts of finance involved. Churchill suggested a way to have each town pay for their own station, taking some of the burden off of Metra's shoulders.

minutes. During this time, demonstrators opposed to the extension of Rte. 53 were picketing heavily with the help of an airplane that held the message "Railways-Yes!, Tollways-No!." More than 100 members of COST were out in force to peacefully deliver their message.

After the ceremony passengers boarded the train to head to its next stop, Lake Villa. At each stop, a delegate who represented that area and Jeff Ladd, executive director of Metra, got off the train to give each village a commemorative plaque and photo to hopefully be hung in the railroad station.

The train stopped for only for three minutes at each station and

This plan was accepted and put into action in Metra's major long-range planning document in April 1992. Every portion of the program for the North Central Line came together Aug. 18.

The day started off with a ceremony at Antioch hosting many state and local delegates and people from around the area. Speeches continued for about 30 minutes. The passengers were back on the train for the next stop.

At most stations, bands were playing and large crowds had gathered. The reopening of a line that had been gone for over 50 years was something to celebrate for each of the villages.

The train stopped at each station along the way and turned around at Union Station to head back to Antioch. Passengers that had gotten on the train were then let off at each stop along the ride back.

The train had to be stopped once because of a small electrical problem but, it was moving again in a matter of minutes.

Most of the people aboard Metra's inaugural run liked the trip. "This has been a very enjoyable ride... it's something this area really needs," commented State Rep. Al Salvi, GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Regular service on the line began Monday, Aug. 19.

"There will be four trains a day with approximately five cars each during rush hour," said Donald Udstuen, Director of the Metra Board of Directors.

The trains will make the 52-mile trip in under 90 minutes.

Congressman Michael P. Flanagan, of Chicago, commented on the need for the train at this point in time.

"Today, it took me 90 minutes to drive here and I wasn't expecting for it to take that long so I was late," said Flanagan. "Anything that can elevate this problem is very welcome... mass transit is popular and I use it myself."

Members of COST hope the new line will be a factor in easing traffic congestion and help show politicians why the extension of Rte. 53 is not needed.

"It's unusual to have a protest in the suburbs," said Giles. "We hope this sends a strong message about the opinions of area residents."

Other groups comprising COST include: Illinois Citizens Action, Illinois Audubon Society, Chicagoland Air Quality and Transportation Commission, McHenry County Defenders, McHenry and Lake County chapters of the Sierra Club, Citizens Transportation Coalition, HeatherRidge Conservation Club, Lake County Conservation Alliance as well as groups from Cook and DuPage counties.— Rhonda Burke contributed to this story.

Zoning

"It's our responsibility to change the overall context of ordinances. Be patient."

Some problems are inflicted on the environment by municipalities where the county has no jurisdiction, Rep. Robert Buhal (D-Highland Park) stated.

Raftis closed the meeting Monday with the observation that the county ought to be "planning for the worst" and that some changes are in order.

The full County Board has authorized expenditures for a private company to overhaul building and zoning regulations, and to produce a new unified document that squares with the county's long range plan.

County band sings the blues for love of music

Hometown bands: part III in a three-part series

- What they're all about
- The inside scoop on neighborhood bands

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Black Alley Blues is one hot Lake County band burning with the fever which ignites the flame of everlasting Chicago-style splendor.

Not only does the expertise in this group ring out above the crowd, the sound itself is a bit unusual for the area, says lead singer Lori Talles.

True Chicago Blues, like the tunes this band belts out, are not traditionally found in Lake County, she explained. "Every place we play, they love us, but they're not always sure what we're about," Talles says.

Nonetheless, this band is not a bunch of green players. Celebrating their second year together this month, the members can cite year after year of experiences, not to mention some pretty interesting stories about what got them into the business.

Besides Talles, those who make the band the special ensemble it has become are Ralph McGonegle, bassist; Gus Stagg, harmonica player and rhythm guitar; Dan McGillis, lead guitar; and Bob Zimmerman, drummer.

Rocky roads led them to meet one another at a support group they attend. Their common love flowered into a dynamic Blues band busting with elements from each of their past and present lives.

The band is therapeutic for some, while See BLUES page B13

Entertainer juggles ventriloquism with comedy

AMANDA MILLER

Staff Reporter

Some people love to make others happy. They just enjoy entertaining other people. These people stand out.

Walter Szeezil, from Wildwood, is just this kind of person. He likes to make people smile with his ventriloquism act. But he wasn't always in the entertainment business.

Szeezil started a dry cleaning business in Chicago in 1967. His wife and one other employee ran the business. By 1994, Szeezil's business held 75 employees and became the largest dry cleaning business in the country. Vogue cleaners was what Szeezil put his life into and it became great.

After 27 years, Szeezil found a drawback to dry cleaning.

"The dry cleaning business is very confrontational," explained Szeezil, "It made me very stern and stressed; I just got tired of it."

So, Szeezil sold his business to retire. That is when he became an entertainer.

"I wanted to stay active and have fun so I took up juggling," said Szeezil.

Szeezil believes that it is very important to stay active after retirement, so he bought an instructional book to help him learn to juggle. In two weeks, Szeezil felt confident in his juggling skills. From there, he began to teach others to juggle at senior centers and schools.

"Then I saw a possibility to entertain... the next thing I wanted to try was ventriloquism," said Szeezil.

Once Szeezil sets his mind to do something it is going to be done right. To learn the art of ventriloquism, Szeezil traveled to Hopkinsville Ky. to learn the trade from one of the best. Bill Boley is a renowned ventriloquist and Szeezil spent a few days with him teaching him the art. Boley even gave Szeezil his first dummy, which was Kelly O' Connor, an Irish crow.

Soon Szeezil's characters grew and developed. Rascal the cat became a young children's character. Then came Professor Birdseed who is usually involved with farm skits. Prof. Birdseed is a character that Szeezil is not completely happy with right now.

"I haven't found a good place and time to use him," explained Szeezil, "And, it's very difficult to change characters once you have made them."

Szeezil has just created a new character as well. His name is Chuck Yurbucs and he is a senator from Illinois. This election year, Szeezil is running Yurbucs for President of the United States. He has a sign on his front lawn encouraging people to vote for Yurbucs and to see Szeezil's act.

With his new character, Szeezil began to play acts at clubs and other venues. A few of the places he has appeared are: Chicago's Navy Pier, ZANIES ComedyClub, Waukesha Riverfest 1996, Taste of Highwood and others.

Within a 2 1/2 year span, Szeezil has not only learned two difficult arts but also has become successful with them.

"It takes a lot of discipline and hard work to do what I do, but I would recommend it to anyone."

— Walter Szeezil

His act is in 30 or 45 minute blocks. Szeezil usually introduces the ventriloquism act adding one character at a time to let the audience know the character's personality. Szeezil always involves the audience through audience participation, weather it's kids or adults. In the middle of the act, Szeezil usually performs 7 to 8 minutes of juggling and comedy juggling and ends the act with a combination of ventriloquism and juggling. Some of Szeezil's act ends up being ad lib but, he tends to want to stick to the script he's written.

"Sometimes you have to drum up an audience and that is something you can't plan for," said Szeezil.

Szeezil is constantly working on his act. First of all, he writes all of his own material. This is no easy job. A dialogue must be formed and then edited several times. It must be memorized and then performed in coordination with the dummy.

"The memorization is really good for me... when you age your memory sure doesn't get any better so, it keeps my mind working," said Szeezil.

He then made another important realization. Walter Szeezil wasn't exactly an entertainer's name.

"Szeezil was difficult to pronounce, spell and remember for people," said Szeezil.

Walter Szeezil then became Walter West.

The most impressionable part about Walter West or Walter Szeezil is his reason for all of his hard work and time.

"I really like audience participation... with kids it's really important that you don't embarrass them so you try to find a child in the audience who looks alert and interested but not too active or hyperactive," explained West.

West also shows that he just loves what he does. He does it for his enjoyment and the enjoyment of others.

"It's a wonderful experience," said West, "I can schedule acts when I want and I get a lot of interaction with people."

Of course, as in every profession there are also drawbacks.

"I don't make a lot of money, I usually spend more money than I make... It takes a lot of discipline and hard work to do what I do, but I would recommend it to anyone," stated West.

Walter Szeezil is a true story of where hard work and a good heart will get you.

"I'm still learning an awful lot but, I love what I am doing," said Szeezil.

All aboard 'Railfan Weekend' at Illinois Railway Museum

Labor Day weekend, Aug. 31 through Sept. 2, is Railfan Weekend at the Illinois Railway Museum, the largest operating railway museum in the country. Train buffs, model railroaders, or anyone with an interest in transportation history, this is one event that you won't want to miss. Take your pick of steam trains, electric cars and trolleys, or diesel trains on all three days.

This special event makes it difficult for train lovers to choose which of the six to eight trains running to ride next. Many historic railcars and engines that are only on display most of the year will be operated. Visitors may board the cab of a working steam engine or diesel, sit next to the motorman on a trolley, or ride in a Pullman car or a caboose. On Sunday a special attraction will be the Union Pacific Railroad's Streamliner Train which will make an appearance at the museum.

The last of the silver streamliners, the Burlington Zephyr, will run on Sunday and Monday. A steam engine built in 1918 will be pulling a train of vintage passenger cars. Also running on the museum's mainline will be a caboose train. Trolleys and electric cars from Chicago and surrounding areas will be in service.

Visitors may board any of the trains running at the depot dating from 1851 for a round trip ride on the five-mile mainline that travels through rural farmlands between Union and the Kiswaukee River. Visitors can also stop at the numerous displays, refreshment stand, or bookstore/gift shop that are located at various points along the one-mile trolley loop that circles the museum's 56-acre main grounds.

The museum opens at 10 a.m. and visitors are welcome to use the picnic facilities and explore the collection of equipment. Starting out with one trolley car in 1953, the collection has grown to include more than 350 cars and locomotives. Moved to Union in 1964, IRM now has the largest and one of the most comprehensive collections of railroad artifacts in the nation.

Admission to the museum includes unlimited rides on operating equipment and admittance to all displays. Admission fees are $9 for adults and $7 for children ages 5 through 11 on special event day.

The not-for-profit Illinois Railway Museum is located in Union at 7000 Olson Rd., six miles northwest of Rte. 20 Marengo exit of the I-90 Northwest Tollway. For recorded information call, 1-800-BIG-RAIL, or call (815)923-4000.

General admission to the museum is $2.50 for adults, $1 for youths ages 4 to 18. Children 3 and under enter free. Reservations are not required and there are no additional fees for activities.

The museum is open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Sundays, and 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

As part of an ongoing educational series at the Museum, Family Day Sundays are offered each Sunday in August from 1 to 4:30 p.m. with hands-on, family-oriented activities taking place throughout the afternoon inside the Museum's air-conditioned galleries.

On Sunday, Aug. 18, learn how settlers turned various Lake County plants into colorful dyes for wool at Dyes of Early Settlers. Museum volunteer Jill Martin will be on hand to show how dyes were created and then assist participants in dyeing their own swatch to take home. The Museum is open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday and 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Admission is free every Monday.

A Hawaiian Wedding

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It's hard to argue that Hawaii is the perfect honeymoon destination. But did you ever consider Hawaii as the setting for your wedding, too?

What could be more romantic than saying "I do" next to a shimmering Hawaiian waterfall? Or perhaps in a grotto lavished in green ferns. Maybe that exchange of vows could take place on a hidden beach with a legendary Hawaiian sunset for a backdrop. You could even out-do Charles and Diana and get married on the grounds of an ancient Royal Palace.

Want to make your wedding even more unique? Skip the tux and traditional gown and go Hawaiian. No, that doesn't mean the bride wears a grass skirt. Instead, she will don a Hawaiian wedding dress called a holoku. On her head the bride wears an intricately woven crown of flowers and ferns called a haku. The groom wears a long-sleeved white shirt and pants accented by a red sash.

Arranging such a wedding is easier than you may think. Many of the finer hotels throughout the islands, as well as many tour operators offer wedding packages. These can be as simple as a quick "I do" on the beach to one in which a Rolls-Royce takes you to a private yacht for a ceremony on a sunset sea. They will handle everything from the marriage license to the cake and flowers. Your travel agent should be able to give you all the details.

Requirements for getting in Hawaii are few. Each of you must be at least 20 years of age. There is no waiting period and no blood test is required. The bride-to-be does need proof of rubella immunization which can be obtained from your doctor. A marriage permit costs $8 and can be obtained from the Department of Health in Honolulu or from one of the many agents on the neighboring islands.

So, what will relatives think when you tell them the wedding is going to be in Hawaii? My guess, is everyone is looking for a reason to go to the islands and you may have just given them one.

DiMarco's in Antioch - Donna DiMarco loves it

Well, what's to be said for partnerships! I guess they are pretty much like a marriage. If you don't work at it, it simply won't work. As in the donaponti pair that opened in Lake Zurich: at the onset the pair, Donna DiMarco and Eugene Pontillo were so excited. At the finish line Donna DiMarco was quoted as saying, she wishes him well. "It's a heartache, you want so much for things to be great and then you discover that you're just not compatible and the decision to move on is never easy," Donna said.

DiMarco's in Antioch has been a legend in the tiny town that brought it its success. Donna DiMarco opened with her family almost seven years ago, and not so long ago her brothers decided to make their own way. The lady in her journey to continue her career joined Pontillo: today she has decided to go it alone. In spite of it all the tiny restaurant nestled in the small town thrives.

North Shore Magazine did a story and critiqued the tiny restaurant 11 stars just last June. Several articles edited by professionals in this industry such as The Chicago Tribune, and a 3 1/2 star critique also received from the News Sun, just to mention a few, have brought DiMarco much fame in her field.

"I'm hoping all my lovely customers will continue to support DiMarco's in Antioch. It is my gut feeling that I'm not done. I'm sure I'll open more restaurants but for now I want to take some time just for me," Donna said.

Blues

meeting goals for others.

"I've performed since I was 12 years-old," said Talles. Growing up in Waukegan in a racially-mixed area, and having a step-father who owned and operated a local nightclub, Talles became infected with the Blues bug when she was quite young. Her paternal father was a also a gifted musician.

"I saw 'Lady Sings the Blues' at quite an early age," she said of the film about the 1930s Blues singer Billie Holiday. So impressed, Talles changed her stage name to "Billie T" (the T's for Talles).

"I don't know of any [other] white females who just sing Blues," Talles said.

At one point Talles was blessed with a very rare five-octave range voice, used as an example by a college music professor to teach his class.

Awakening at early morning hours to find musicians jamming in her living room was all too common, she recalls about her childhood years.

At the age of eight her step-dad introduced her to a couple of personal friends, Zena Bethune and Jerry Orbach, actors from New York who were in Chicago performing for the play "Love Makes the World Go Round."

After the lead singer heard her sing, remembers Talles, "Zena, told me never to stop no matter what I did." And she hasn't stopped since.

When McGonegle first began his venture into the world of music, the year was 1964. In many respects, the differences between today's bands and those of yesteryear are like night and day, he explained.

During the pre-psychedelic era band members wore matching suits, even their guitars would match, said McGonegle. "Bands were pretty straight looking," he described.

Music was an integral part of the lives of youth in rock n' roll's heyday. "[Back then] there were a lot of clubs to play, for both adults and teens," said McGonegle.

The American Legion halls, and Catholic Charities were just some of the organizations

"I remember playing my first gig," chuckled McGonegle. "Everybody had tuxedo jackets with these big lapels." His first paycheck for making music was a mere $11. "And that was good money!" he said.

"Years ago, everybody had bands. Today it's a little harder to get into it full-time."

McGonegle cites money as the major obstacle which stifles many fine musicians presently. While equipment can cost an arm and a leg, McGonegle's very first PA system costed a grand total of $200. It included three Shure microphones, two 12-inch Jensen speakers, and a 35-watt Japanese amplifier. McGonegle recalls how proud he was to pack it into the back of his car before and after a gig. "It all fit into one box," he said.

Through the years, McGonegle continued with what he loved, and set out on the road playing everything from Country and Western to jazz.

During the hippie era he became a regular part of a band called Admiral Cranberry.

In Chicago, the Kenosha native found himself backing groups like Joe Kelly and Minnie Ripperton. He even did some concert work for a performer named Neal Diamond who at that time was "hot before the Beatles were."

"Anybody that plays today thinks in the back of their minds they'd like to go further with it. But as long as I'm playing with people I like, it's okay," said McGonegle.

The gifted McGillis could easily be termed "a natural" on-stage. "What's amazing is, he picked up a guitar only seven years ago," Talles explained.

Playing guitar with his trademark stogie in his mouth, McGillis known as "the hootchie cootchie man" can keep audiences in tune with the band's meld of music.

Zimmerman keeps the beat going with his impressive brand of drumming style. This musician also had an impressive teacher, College of Lake County instructor Joe Varhula. Jay Leno's drummer on the Tonight Show was taught by Varhula also.

Stagg is a musician with 20-years of expertise under his belt. The diverse artist has roots leading back to a number of bands including Stone Sober Blues; Gas; and Black Water Jack.

Some of his influence comes from renowned musicians Charlie Musclevwhite, Sonny Boy Williamson, John Mayall and Corky Seagal.

Stagg is a harmonica instructor and also a songwriter. He was cited for writing a song called "Tobacco" which was used by the American Cancer Society for a national campaign.

Black Alley Blues will be playing at Offsides in Mundelein Aug. 24; the Round Lake Alano Club picnic Aug. 25 in Gages Lake; and the Boat House in Kenosha Sept. 1.

For more information about the band, contact Dan McGillis at (847) 546-5766.

National Country Music Festival expands to seven days of events

The 21st annual National Traditional Music Festival has expanded to seven days starting Aug. 26 and going through Labor Day at the fairgrounds in Avoca, Iowa, said Bob Everhart, president.

The festival presents dozens of national contests and more than 30 shows and scores of exhibits of arts and crafts. It also offers an opportunity for amateurs to perform as well as to listen to the top professionals from around the world in American country music.

If time is limited to a few days for this family festival arrive Friday afternoon and stay through Sunday night when the fiddle playing ends near midnight.

Throughout the week there will be shows named after many of the states, mostly in the Midwest and South, because the performers represent the traditional music and dances from these areas. The states include Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, South Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Indiana, Nebraska, Colorado and others. Many areas within these states also will be represented.

There will be story telling time, numerous workshops, gandy, clog prairie, barn and square dancing, gospel and much more. Gandy dancing in this national contest, however, refers to the builders of railroads driving spikes into the ties that held the rails down.

Other activities include contests such as the Hank Williams Songwriting, National Spoon and Bone (once won by a hairdresser from 35th Street in Manhattan, N.Y.), National Ragtime Piano, Jimmie Rodgers Yodeling, International Swiss Yodeling, and other national and Midwest contests involving fiddling, singing, dobro guitar, bull fiddle, flat top guitar, dulcimer-both lap and hammer-banjo, country singing (male and female) and much more.

Additionally, people will be inducted into both the Country and Fiddler's Hall of Fame.

A seven day pass is $27 with per day admission set at $10 and children under 13 years of age or adults over 70 admitted for half price. There are camping facilities at the fairgrounds along with motels and bed and breakfast spots nearby. Council Bluffs, Iowa and Omaha are less than a 30 minute ride from rural Avoca located at Interstate 80.

For more information contact Bob Everhart at the National Traditional Country Music Assn. at (712)784-3001. Everhart, also known as the "Ambassador of American Folk Music" and perhaps the leading performer in traditional music, suggested bringing lawn chairs. More than 70,000 people are expected to attend the event.

Port Clinton Art Festival celebrates 12 years

This year's festival will welcome more than 250 talented artists from 44 states and Canada.

This year, Director Amy Amdur states that a percentage of the festival's proceeds will be donated to the Breast Cancer Center of Highland Park Hospital.

The festival is an open access event. For additional festival information, call 433-5306.

Movie Pick 'Escape from LA' laughs at itself

Kurt Russell's long career in movies has taken him from childhood parts, to teen trash, to light comedy with his long time paramour Goldie Hawn, to buddy flicks with action stars Mel Gibson, Steven Seagal and Sly Stallone.

Thirteen years ago he created a one-eyed outlaw biker named Snake Plissken, as mean as the name, in "Escape from New York." He and Director John Carpenter, well-known for his penchant for darkness, have come up with a blacker than black sequel for this hard ass bike cowboy, that could lead to more.

The unlikely hero, who still disrespects authority, goes west after a quake turns the City of Angels into a garbage island.

This is another case of the TV promos and a great intro peaking a movie in its early stages as Russell and the film make a fantastic entrance to an L.A. that has been split from the rest of California by the long predicted super earthquake.

Shots of our beloved Disneyland turned from a kids' paradise to everyone's nightmare, to downtown L.A., now a surfer's hell, make up a super opening, but somehow the rest of the picture doesn't quite match up.

Snake, only better with age, has been injected with a lethal virus, the anecdote to come only after he retrieves a box that holds earth's fate in its confines awaiting him in the ruins of an L.A. of 2016.

The daughter of the President of the United States has stolen the box and given it to her Latin lover, a refugee from a 1970s novel by Harold Robbins. So the Pres, played by Cliff Robertson, shoots Snake up and orders him to get the box from the poor man's Castro, now in L.A. with all the other dregs of humanity, and kill his daughter while he's at it.

Kurt Russell in "Escape from L.A."

The ridiculousness of the plot, filled with political satire ala Pat Buchanan, in a land where all those wonderful unhealthy things like smoking, drinking and sex outside of marriage are outlawed, cameos like Peter Fonda's surfer and Pam Grier's transsexual, Carpenter's tongue in cheek direction, and Russell's macho swaggering, save the day, as the pic laughs at all the previous action flicks of this summer, as well as at itself.

"Escape," rated 'R,' gets three out of a possible five stars with the film's opening accounting for two of those points all by itself. We wouldn't mind seeing another Snake flick, but let's dig up a better plot next time around.—by GLORIA DAVIS

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You're finding it difficult to resist being extravagant, especially with credit cards so handy. Thus, you could overspend this week in the pursuit of pleasure. Family discussions are favored over the weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Work interests are favored early in the week, despite the fact that a co-worker is crabby and out of sorts. Guard against being overly indulgent toward midweek. Otherwise, you'll wear yourself out and won't enjoy your weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's a favorable week for new starts. However, when dealing with those in authority, be sure to exercise tact and diplomacy. A private discussion over the weekend leads to new relationship insights.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Some take in a lecture or seminar on a favorite subject early in the week. In general, activities of a group nature are favored. An unusual purchase is tempting, but the price tag could be above your means. Weigh this carefully.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You are at your creative best, but at work, you could let things slide a bit. What's being proposed to you financially requires you to be more careful in your scrutiny. It sounds great, but could be a scam in the long run.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You're not connecting with that special someone, and that could mean it's time now for a heart-to-heart chat. You've been avoiding this, but it's time to be honest. In business, keep your eyes open.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A humanitarian cause has captured your imagination and you go all out for this as is characteristic of you. Others are swept along with your enthusiasm. As a result, you end the week feeling satisfied at the good you've done.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) It's silly for you to overreact so to what you believe is a slight by a close friend. At work, it's best to stick to a behind-the-scenes approach rather than being so overt. You achieve success ultimately through further study.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A friend comes to you with a rather unusual business prospect early in the week. Later, couples are engrossed in fascinating conversations, rekindling the spark in the relationships. Be careful when spending money this

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A friend asks you to join a club that has been intriguing you. While out and about, be careful in your use of credit. Talks on the business front yield some helpful information for the future.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You find yourself brimming with energy and initiative early in the week, but you could overlook important details on the job. Someone close to you is being overly sensitive and needs your understanding this weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Travel done this week will prove to be quite enjoyable, whether for business or pleasure. However, guard against an unfortunate tendency to exaggerate while out socializing. Be sure of your facts before you open your mouth.

Condell Medical Center talks about relocation stress

Pulling up roots is never easy. In fast growing Lake County, families, whether young, middle ages or older, are experiencing the strain of leaving friends and familiar circumstances behind and making a new home in new places among new faces. Families suffering from 'relocation stress' often ask:

- How can I get involved in my new community?
- Where can I get help if I need it?
- How can our family find the services we need?

On consecutive Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m., Condell Medical Center health care professionals will offer answers to these questions at the free September Health Education Series which is designed to help make relocation transition successful.

All programs will be held at Condell Acute Care Center, 6440 Grand Ave., at Hunt Club Rd., Gurnee. The following subjects will be included:

Wednesday, Sept. 11, "Moving After Moving" body mechanics, presented by Gail Crutcher, director of Rehabilitation Services. He will demonstrate the proper way to move and lift, ways to protect your lower back, and how to strengthen your back through exercise.

Wednesday, Sept. 18, "Getting Involved in Your New Community" presented by Nancy Clark, director of Consumer Services. Ms.

Clark will discuss ways to pursue your interests in a new environment and other issues that are important to families when they move.

Wednesday, Sept. 25, "Dealing with Relocation Stress in the Family" presented by Gail Rothlein, RN, MPH, director of The Center for Mental Health. She will lead a discussion about relocation stress and the resources available to new families in the community.

Though all lectures are free, reservations are requested. For reservations and information about these programs, call Condell's Medical Center Health Institute at 362-2905, ext. 5770.

Patient service an important part of making health care plans

DANNE M. ROUNDS

Much of the attention in the on-going national debate over health care has centered on cost and quality. These are certainly issues that deserve careful consideration as our nation's health care system evolves. However, service is also an important consideration when people have to make use of their health insurance. It is therefore becoming an important factor in making health plan purchasing decisions.

When you're sick, you don't need a busy signal as you try to get pre-admission approval. You don't want a stack of paperwork to fill out either. When you're sick, there should be only one thing on your mind: getting well again. Filling out forms and waiting on the telephone aren't good medicine.

When people are asking for critical comments about their health insurance, paperwork hassles rank near the top of the list. But there's been steady progress in reducing the mountain of insurance forms that billions of claims can produce annually in this country. New more efficient computer systems have been developed, and insurers are increasingly designing common ways to process claims and other data. The whole idea is to streamline the health care system nearly to the point of a paperless system.

In fact, a nearly paperless system already exists with some health plans, like the Community Blue Plan from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois. If members of that managed care health plan use the doctors and hospitals within the network, all they have to do is show their Blue Cross card and the providers take care of the rest, usually electronically. Once a new member completes the initial application form, there is no need to deal with anymore paperwork. Other health plans are also working toward that kind of hassle-free system and someday it may be the norm.

Sometimes, it's necessary to speak with your health insurer directly. There may be occasional questions about coverage, premiums or pre-admission approvals. This is when a good insurer shines. It's an opportunity to speak one-on-one with customers and leave a good impression. A great amount of time and money is spent by Blue Cross and other leading insurers to train their customer service representatives so that they can provide the greatest amount of assistance as quickly as possible. No one wants to be put on hold, while a representative spends 10 to 15 minutes trying to find the answer to a simple question. And certainly everyone wants to be treated courteously and with respect.

While many employers currently base their insurance purchasing decisions on cost and quality, service is increasingly becoming an important component. Employers want high-quality service that reduces their hassles and paperwork, and they don't want complaints from their employees who don't receive good customer service from the health plan.

The "take-it-or-leave-it" attitude that once seemed to pervade many American businesses is rapidly disappearing and an emphasis on service is returning. Health insurers are part of this change. They realize that most consumers consider the quality of the service provided by health plans to be nearly as important as the quality of the health care delivered. In addition, independent agencies that issue report cards on health insurers have made service one of the main criteria in determining the overall quality of a health plan. In the near future, consumers and employers will be able to compare the quality of service among health plans as easily as they compare the cost of the plans today. That will be a tremendous benefit for the American health care system and the American consumer.

Joanne M. Rounds is senior vice president for Information Technology and Subscriber Services, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

Remodeling kitchens—a sound investment for now, future

Talk to any real estate agent, and he or she will tell you the same thing: You get the most for your home improvement investment from remodeling the kitchen. Chances of recouping your dollars are better than good—they're 125 percent! So, while the majority of homeowners may live in a less-than-new house, most want a kitchen that's like new—and for good reason.

Once you decide to remodel your kitchen, a professional designer is the first person to contact. A designer can review your ideas, discuss how they would work and offer suggestions. Additionally, a designer can provide you with the benefit to experiences on similar projects.

When you begin, remember, someday you might be a home seller. And, while most home buyers don't mind tearing down old wallpaper—ripping out cabinets or replacing a worn faucet is another story. Items that are costly or difficult to replace should be viewed as more permanent additions to your new kitchen. Thus, when you're selecting them, choose classic styling with superior quality that appeals to a broad audience.

Following are five tips on kitchen remodeling:

- Work closely with a professional designer. They can save you time, as well as money in the end.
- Begin your remodeling project with a visit to a variety of kitchen showrooms. Look at products. Ask questions.
- Choose a faucet that combines both time-honored styling and high-quality.

• Select a neutral background for your kitchen, then accent it with brighter colors. White has recently made a comeback for the kitchen and continues to increase in popularity due to its clean, simplistic appeal.

• Have fun. Today, people spend a good deal of family time in the kitchen. Make yours an inviting place with special touches.

Plant-watering habits—all wet

To increase the life span of your plants this summer, here are a few helpful gardening tips.

To prevent gardening mishaps, experts recommend you plant indoor and outdoor plants in self-watering plantpots.

Plantpots water from the roots up, automatically combining the right amount of water and air to grow healthier flowers and shrubs.

To pot plants, gardeners need only fill the capillary pillars with potting soil, tapping it down firmly before planting. As the plant uses the moisture in the potting mix, water is drawn up from the waterwell to the plant's root system by capillary action.

Because of these natural process, the plant takes in only as much water as it needs.

To water plants, gardeners need only add water through the easy to locate side opening. The water level can be checked by looking through the same side opening or by dipping a finger into the waterwell.

The well storage allows plants to go two to three weeks without attention saving time, water and your plants.

In the case of rain, excess water seeps through the soil and is stored in the waterwell.

Over-watering cannot occur because the floor of the pot is designed to remain above the water level and the excess water is drained through the side opening.

The ventilated floor ensures proper aeration, eliminating chances of root rot.

The waterwell side opening is also perfect for adding liquid fertilizers allowing direct access to plant's roots.

Take precautions to prevent burns

What is a burn? A burn involves the destruction of skin cells, and sometimes the underlying structures of muscle, fascia and bone. It occurs when these structures absorb more heat than they can dissipate. Most tap scalds happen when children are left alone, fall into the bathtub, play with the hot water tap, or are placed in water that is too hot.

How are burns treated? If your child is burned, soak a clean, white cloth in cool water, and then apply it to the burn. When applying the water, be careful not to break any blisters that may have formed. Do not apply any type of ointment or butter or other homemade remedy. Ointments will keep the heat in the burn and make it deeper.

In the bathroom

Never leave your child alone in the bathtub. If it is necessary to leave the room, take the child with you. Babysitters, relatives and other caregivers should be instructed to provide continuous supervision in the same way.

Test the water before you put your child in the bathtub. When filling the tub, turn on cold water first, adjusting the temperature with the hot water. If the water feels at all uncomfortable, then it is too hot for your child.

Face your child away from the bathroom fixtures. Young children are less likely to manipulate faucets that are out of sight.

In the kitchen Create a "no" zone. Do not establish the kitchen as a recreational area. Also, do not encourage your child to play on the kitchen floor while you are cooking.

Keep it out of reach. Put pans on rear burners. Turn pot handles toward the back of the stove. Place hot dishes at the back of the counter. Keep hot food away from the table edge. Keep appliance cords out of reach.

Dole's the one

I agree with "Vote for Dole" in the Aug. 2 Lipservice. Notice the only thing people can find to condemn Dole is his age. The list is so long with negative things for womanizer Bill Clinton that I lost count. Vote Dole to save your tax dollars!

Fill 'em up

I'd like to know why the state police have so many cars on their hand that they can leave them sitting on the Tri-state expressway empty? Put some people in the cars and stop the BMWs from Highland Park from going 100 mph on the freeway.

We'll help

I want to thank the Fox Lake School District for listening to parents and lowering fees. If we hear you say that you need help with the referendum, we'll give you help and hope that it passes. Most of us realize that fundraisers aren't the answer to the financial problems, but thanks for listening to us.

Light was needed

This is in response to "Where's our lights" from Venetian Village. As a Grandwood Park resident living off of Hutchins and 132, I can attest to the priority of those lights. There were many accidents at that site. Try picturing a school bus full of children trying to cross 132 during rush hour. Many times I've watched the buses squeak through the intersection. I do feel for your situation, but we worked hard to get those lights and held meetings, signed petitions, etc. The big thing was that we never stopped working and worked together. Now we can relax because we know the kids and adults crossing the intersection will be much safer. I thank Grandwood Park, neighboring subdivisions, and IDOT for making this happen.

Off base

This is in regard to "Thanks, BEST" in the last Lipservice. Vern Holmes was way off base when he thought the Antioch train station should be located on the high school grounds so that Lindenhurst and Lake Villa kids could go to Antioch via the train. Trains will be going south in the morning and north in the evening. How will those children be able to get to school, unless we start night classes?

Congrats, Jody

I'd like to congratulate Jody Stewart on becoming the new Miss Lake County. It couldn't have happened to a nicer person. She's a wonderful influence on children. She has the brains and talent to get along well in society and become a wonderful person.

Gurnee 'stinks'

I cannot sit in my backyard, hang out my laundry, or sleep with my windows open because of skunks and woodchucks. Now the village wants me to pay $45 for a trap, catch the possibly rabid animal, and pay another $20 for disposal. Between all the new construction, a lack of city services, it looks like the animals and my family will be forced to move on.

Return exhibit

I was in the Lake County Fair and someone inadvertently walked off with part of my exhibit, which was a 1942 game board with the Armed Services printed on it in red, white and blue. I would appreciate if they would return it to Mary at the Lake County Fairgrounds office.

Refund, please

Ever since the Camp David peace talks back in the '70s, the United States has aided Israel in what we call the peace process. The main contingency on this aid was that they no longer build or settle in the occupied areas. By and large, Israel has ignored this contingency in the past and the new Israeli government has said they will not stop the settlements or leave the occupied areas. Can anyone be surprised in possible increased problems in the middle east because of this? If Israel does not get out of the Palestinian territory, we should ask for a peace refund.

Think about it

Well, fall's coming soon and school will be starting. What about our Round Lake area children? How are the schools this year? Are they overcrowded, do we have old textbooks, will the children learn to read? Do we need to take out more of those Hooked on Phonics sets from the library like last year? How many graduates aren't going to be able to go to college because they can't function? Just something to think about as school is starting.

A pleasure

It was a pleasure at Nancy's Travel Center to arrange and chaperone your Johnsbury graduating class cruise. A big thanks to Adam Hyde for all his hard work. All of us at Nancy's Travel wish you all the best for your future plans.

More tributes

I would like to pay tribute to Mr. Radtke's barber shop on Main St. in Antioch. We've lived here 50 years and that's where my husband went as a young man for his haircuts. We have two boys, ages 46 and 40, who got their hair cut there as children. My 7-year-old grandson and 10-year-old great-grandson have their hair cut there, too. Mr. Radtke has served my family for four generations. May you enjoy your retirement, it was a pleasure to come to your barber shop!—Mrs. Abear, Lake Villa

Get some ideas

After spending a beautiful Sunday in Antioch for their Fire Fun to raise money for the fire department, I'm wondering why Fox Lake doesn't have something similar? There was a silent auction, treasure booth, barbecued chicken, etc. This was more of a family affair. Fox Lake should get some ideas from this.

Love it or lose it

I live on Lincoln Ave. in Grayslake. If you love your cat, please keep it in the house. If not, I'm afraid it just might disappear. I'm an animal lover, but when I stand at the window and watch it kill my birds, that's a bit too much. I love animals and have had them all my life, but I keep them confined and I pray you do that, too.

Change rules

I just wanted to make a comment about the pageants in the area. It's surprising that some of the contestants are from the townships, not the village. There should be a rule change for this.

Change is good

This is a wake-up call to the Fox Lake Theatre, how about changing the movies once in a while? When you do change them, they're all for kids. How about some movies for the grown-ups? Independence Day has been there for six weeks, come on!

How to be a winner in today's business world

DON TAYLOR

This column might have been easier to write as a book. There are so many characteristics of winners it is difficult to confine these thoughts to approximately 600 words.

Here's my lesson I learned at age 19: If there is little to lose and much to gain by trying, by all means try.

My dictionary defines the word way as "a path in life—habits of life or conduct." Therefore, the paths you choose and habits you develop become your winning ways.

• Winners have integrity. Winners are of sound moral principle, upright, honest and sincere. Winners are honest even when the consequences of being honest are negative. A winner measures his or her actions against this four-point guide: 1. Is it true? 2. Is it fair to all? 3. Are my words consistent with my actions? 4. Would I be ashamed if this was printed on the front page of the newspaper?

• Winners decide what they want from life. Winners don't take care, they take control. There is nothing that can stand in the way of a person's will to achieve. Winners decide where they want to go and what they wish to accomplish. They develop a plan and set goals to achieve their plan.

• Winners start early. In the quiet of the early morning you'll find winners getting a jump on the day. The "early start" philosophy works equally well in college studies, engineering projects, growing your business and cleaning your house.

• Winners don't avoid conflict. They don't go out of their way to create conflict, but they don't avoid it either. Winners know that new objectives create new tensions. They realize that some folks will reject new ideas. Winners are willing to experience conflict and change to achieve worthy goals.

• Winners accept responsibility for their actions. Winners make mistakes. However, they gracefully accept the consequences and go on with their lives. Though winners make mistakes, they seldom make the same mistake twice. When you reap the results of your efforts you work harder to eliminate errors. This is a key principle of good leadership.

• Winners are achievers. Winners start their own engines. They do not rely on others for motivation. They grasp opportunity with both hands and do not let go until they achieve the desired result. Winners never confuse activity with productivity.

• Winners are quality-driven. Winners know the value of hard work and they know the rewards of smart work. The quality-driven winner will look for the smart way to do it right, thereby saving the time and effort of doing it over.

• Winners never quit trying. Winners know that you cannot fail totally if you have the courage to try. If you can't climb over your personal mountain, go around it. If you can't go around, dig a tunnel through it. If you can't dig through it, turn it into a waterslide and call it "Magic Mountain." Just don't quit trying.

Manpower offers alternative to traditional jobs

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

With the school bell ringing next week, many Lake County residents will be looking to reenter the workforce or change careers, and many will call Manpower for employment opportunities.

"Every year we anxiously await the return of employees, in particularly moms, who wait for the kids to go back to school to reenter the work force," said Chuck Bartels of Manpower.

Last year Manpower employed 5,000 people in Lake and McHenry counties. "It is safe to say that 15 percent of them were working mothers who needed flexibility in their schedules," Bartels said.

Bartels said one of the biggest misconceptions about a firm such as his is that they only employ administrative specialists for short-term work.

"We have many people who work for us full-time, year-around," Bartels said.

The firm handles employment staffing for professionals, data entry, secretarial, production, light assembly, computer technicians and lab technicians.

"I think what we offer our employees is unique to other firms," Bartels said. "We offer benefits, child care resource and referral services, a tax deductible child care program, 401K and training."

The training provided by Manpower to its employees is extensive.

Among the newest training opportunities is computer technician skills training.

"We have just started this and it's very exciting," Bartels said. "The program is designed for computer programmers who have been out of the workforce for several months or years. It particularly fits parents who have taken time off to raise children."

'We offer many opportunities for people to train and enhance their skills and stay current with the marketplace.'

— Chuck Bartels

The goal of the training program is to retool employees to the fast changing technology of computers.

"There is an increasing demand for people of these skills in a variety of assignments," Bartels said.

Manpower also offers word processing training, spread sheet training and soldering training.

"It is important to us to offer training and benefits to our employees," Bartels said. "We need good, dependable, trained personnel to fill our commitments and we find the way we treat our employees enhances productivity."

Manpower's 'Quality Career Team' is particularly appealing to parents. The essence of the program is full-time employees doing temporary work.

"We have many parents who leave us each May and return in September. Their benefits can continue throughout the summer months. What we have are employees who perform temporary work on a full-time basis." The program was new to Manpower last year and has been very popular amongst employees.

"We offer many opportunities for people to train and enhance their skills and stay current with the marketplace," Bartels said. Another employment void which Manpower fills is for the worker who is making long-range career decisions and wants to experience working in another field or a different type of environment.

In recent years, senior citizens have also become an active part of the Manpower work force.

"Many of them like to stay busy a few hours a week and we can provide them a great deal of variety," Bartels said.

Manpower employs two million people nationwide. There are five offices in Lake County in Vernon Hills, Wauconda, Lake Villa, Waukegan and one customer on-site location. For more information call 918-1300.

Seminar addresses the gender gap

The Midwest Association of Family Business Owners (MAFBO), Oakbrook Terrace, will hold a seminar titled "The Gender Gap: Enterprising Women In The Family Business" at its September meeting, according to Ginny Prihoda, Executive Director.

"A panel comprised of wives, daughters, mothers and cousins will discuss a variety of topics including: Opportunities and obstacles encountered by women in the family business; challenges that they face that are both similar and different from what their husbands, brothers, fathers and cousins face; and changes in attitudes and perceptions of family, employees and customers towards women in leadership roles," described Ms. Prihoda.

The dinner/seminar presentation, will be held from 5 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 10, at Knickers Restaurant, 1050 E. Oakton, Des Plaines.

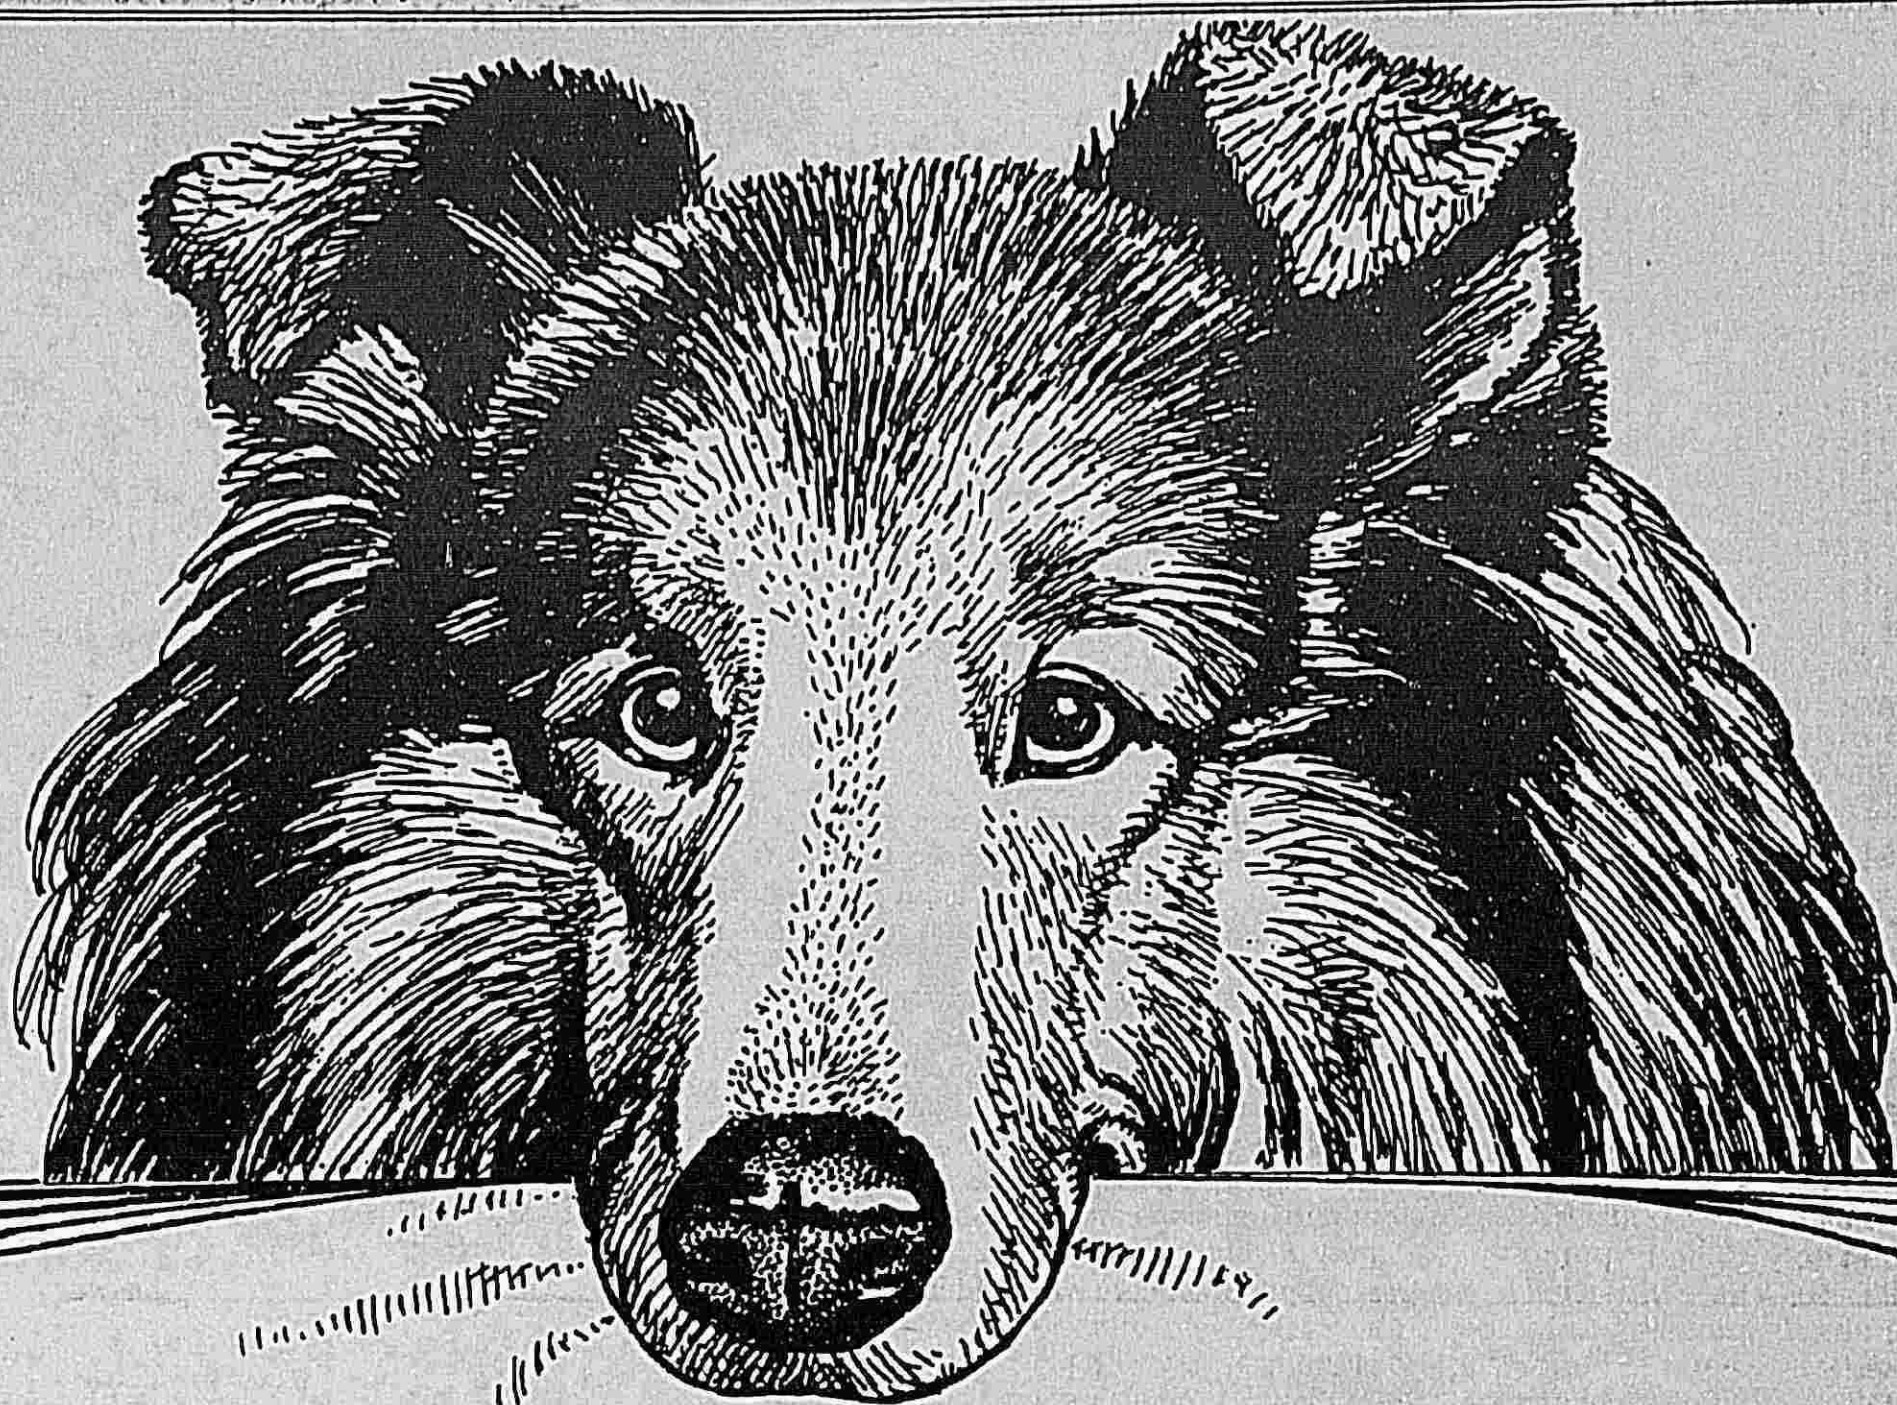

For membership information or a schedule for the 1996 Conference Oct. 25, at Hickory Ridge Conference Centre in Lisle, call Ms. Prihoda at 495-8900.

Radiators help protect engine destruction

Q: I have a 1985 Nissan Stanza with a starting problem. When the key is turned, the fuel pump does not respond and the car won't start. Only when I hear the pump kick in will it start. On other occasions it will shut off when going down the road, causing me to pull over and restart—again only when the pump kicks in. Several garages have inspected it and cannot pinpoint the problem. Only expensive guesses!—David B.

A: The first thing I would do is change the ignition switch. You did not indicate the mileage, but if you plan to keep the car, you are going to have to spend a little. If the problem persists, you are likely looking at a computer problem, especially with any kind of high mileage.

Radiator and cooling system repairs often occur when an emergency situation has prompted the need for something to be done. When steam starts spewing from under the hood, the antifreeze is leaking or a vehicle is overheating, that's when we suddenly are aware of the radiator and cooling system.

As part of the cooling system, a radiator helps to protect an engine from the destructive effects of too much heat. And heat is generated every time we drive our cars.

A radiator specialist can spot potential problem areas and make repairs that can potentially save time, money and an untimely stop along the roadside. A competent radiator shop can repair all kinds of radiators, including the three basic C types: copper brass core with soldered on tanks, copper brass core with plastic tanks and aluminum core with plastic tanks.

A radiator specialist not only can repair leaks, he or she can clean clogged radiators, repair broken hose connections, reattach broken fittings or replace gaskets that otherwise would consign a radiator to the scrap heap.

Motorists can save hundreds of dollars by having automotive components repaired or rebuilt whenever possible. As a radiator has no moving parts, a repaired radiator can do its job as effectively as a new one.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I have been employed with the same company for the past eight years. I go to work each day on time, do my job well and take as little time off as possible. The hours we are required to work are 8:30 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday with one hour for lunch which is very reasonable. My employer has always operated his company on the "honor system" meaning that we do not punch in or out for work or lunch breaks. We do however fill out our own time sheets weekly. In the past four months we hired a few new employees who seem to be taking advantage of not being on a clock. They come in late yet never get caught by the boss they extend their lunch breaks to a point of ridiculous and are ready to leave to go home 15 minutes before the clock strikes five. The worst part about it is that since they have been getting away with it many of the other people in our office are starting to follow their lead. I know this is taking clear advantage of our employer as he is paying these employees in good faith for a full day's work. The employer only sees time slips which always show perfect attendance of course. The employer is such a nice fellow but doesn't realize he is being ripped off. I feel I should inform my employer and explain that his "honor system" is turning into a "dishonor system." I have kept my mouth shut until not but feel guilty just knowing it is going on. What do you suggest? D.W.—Libertyville

Dear D.W.

A time clock! First, I would ask your employer if he could find some time after work to speak with you. Before you do, be sure that you know exactly what it is that you want to say, that you are speaking in a professional manner and that you are not going to point any fingers at anyone in particular. Let him know that you wish your conversation to remain confidential. Let him know that you value your job and have always been loyal and a team player. Most importantly, convey to him that you are proud to work for a company that shows trust in their workers. Then begin to explain the situation that you see escalating... (no names)... and that while you are not coming to him to "slam" fellow co-workers, you feel you can offer your opinion on how he can correct the situation. Keep in mind that employers have so much more on their minds that often these problems may slip by unnoticed. Many employers appreciate the input and rely on key employees to be their eyes and ears. Since your department has no acting supervisor, perhaps you will want to mention that you feel that the department is lacking just that, after eight years of dedication service you're willing and capable. Good luck!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee & Vernon Hills. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

"Freckles" is a mostly pointer mix, three year old neutered male. A sturdy built, mid-size, Freckles is mostly white with large black-patches on body, face and tail. Her legs are liberally sprinkled with black spots. Freckles was house-broken when he came to Orphans in June of 1995 and was raised in a home with older children and adults. This delightful dog is smart and very playful. Freckles is a sweet dog and he responds well to attention and affection. Active but not hyper, Freckles would enjoy an active lifestyle and the loving care and human interaction he has been missing. Freckles is eager to please and will respond well and easily to training. If you would enjoy seeing "spots before your eyes" complete with a wet nose and a wag-ging tail, please check out our Freckles in Cage 31! All dogs benefits from basic housebreaking and obedi-ence training which helps bond dog to owner. Crating is recommended when the owner is away for the first year if needed.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 am - 5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

 INC.

FIRWOOD

Ideal for a retired couple or a family who likes to be together, the Firwood groups bedrooms at one end and formal rooms at the other.

Protruding outwards from this family circle juts the hub of the family activity, the country kitchen, with eating bar and full pantry. Hot biscuits and fresh brewed coffee go down easily sitting in the breakfast nook, enveloped in sunshine from the front yard windows.

A glowing fireplace and an elegant vaulted ceiling lure guests from the foyer into the formal area. After a sit-down dinner, leave wining and dining behind, stand on the patio under the evening stars and take a deep breath.

Come bed time, parents can breathe easy, knowing the children's rooms are next to the master suite, just in case a nightmare awakens the little ones and soothing is in order.

The master suite amenities include a private bathroom, linen closet, and a walk-in closet that provides plenty of room for any fashion lover. When that pricey fashion becomes just plain dirty laundry, it's a short trip to the full utility room, right off the garage.

This medium-sized home is perfect for a city lot. Designed for living, the Firwood makes the family the cornerstone of this design.

For a study kit of the FIRWOOD (403-11), send $10.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.
